Jet Bomber Sets Ocean Hop Record

Spans Atlantic In Three Hours And 20 Minutes

PARIS (AP) — A U. S. Air Force B58 bomber flashed across the Atlantic Friday to commemorate Charles A. Lindberg's epic flight 34 years ago and made it in one-tenth of the Lone Eagle's time. The jet broke all records for an Atlantic crossing.

Sometimes flying at twice the speed of sound, the four-engine Convair Hustler crossed from New York to Paris in three hours and 20 minutes. The average speed was 1,105 miles an hour.

COMPARISON

When he brought his single-engine "Spirit of St. Louis" down at Le Bourget Field after the first successful solo New York-Paris nonstop flight May 21, 1927, Lindbergh had been in the air for 33½ hours. His average speed was a little over 100 m.p.h.

The Hustler landed at Le Bourget to a rousing welcome from senior U.S. officers in Europe and officials of the 24th International Paris Air Show. The show commemorates the 34th anniversary of Lindbergh's flight, and the Hustler's feat got the event off to a rousing start.

The unofficial flight time of the Hustler, was 6 hours 15 minutes for its whole trip from Carswell

Professors Leave Jail In Alabama

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — Five "freedom riders," including four white professors, posted $1,000 cash bond each Friday and were released from county jail in this racially-troubled city.

Those released after a night in the fourth floor county jail on charges of breaching the peace and conspiring to breach the peace were:

John David Maguire, 28, assistant professor of religion at Wesleyan College; William S. Coffin Jr., 36, chaplin at Yale; Gaylor B. Noyce, 31, assistant professor of Yale Divinity School; David R. Swift, 47, professor of religion at Wesleyan, and George B. Smith, 24, Negro, a Yale student.

Bond was put up by Charles S. Conley, a Negro attorney.

Smith told newsmen outside the sheriff's office that he had to take examinations at Yale next week while Coffin was scheduled to deliver a sermon Sunday.

Still behind bars were the Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy, Montgomery integration leader; Wyatt Tee Walker, chairman of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference of Atlanta; Rev. Fred L. Shuttlesworth, Birmingham integrationist; Bernard Lee of Atlanta, and Joseph Charles Jones and Clyde L. Carter, both students at Johnson Smith College, Charlotte, N.C., all Negroes.

There was no indication as to when they would post bond.

Earlier, Alabama Adjutant General Henry V. Graham announced that martial law would continue here until "freedom riders" cease their stupid, immoral and criminal provocations."

The major general, commanding about 1,000 National Guard troops, said he was taking "extra precautions" during the weekend to see that law and order were maintained.

Coffin, appearing tired and unshaven, told newsmen "You are well aware that we have been detained for more than 23 hours, a procedure which is blatantly il-

Race For GOP Chairman Over

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Ohio Rep. GOP chairman Ray C. Bliss Friday withdrew as a candidate for Republican national chairman apparently leaving a clear field for Rep. William E. Miller, R-N. Y.

Bliss dropped out of the running in a telegram to retiring National Chairman Thurston B. Morton.

"I'm not a candidate for chairman and do not desire my name presented to the national committee next week," Bliss wired. He said this had been his position all along.

Miller has been the leading candidate for national chairman all along.

But some midwestern Republicans have pushed Bliss as a man who understands the overall problems confronting the GOP in trying to regain the White House and control of Congress.

JFK Orders Cut In FHA Interest Rate

Ceiling On Home Mortgage Costs Is Lowered Again

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy moved Friday to cut the cost of home mortgage credit by ordering the Federal Housing Administration to reduce the interest ceiling on FHA-insured mortgages from 5½ to 5¼ per cent.

The White House said the cut, coupled with an earlier one by the administration, would mean a saving of $4.27 a month for the purchaser of a $15, home with a $14,000 mortgage. The computation was based on a 20-year mortgage.

OTHER ACTIONS

In two other credit-easing actions, the President:

—Announced that the Federal National Mortgage Association would increase purchases of mortgages in the secondary markets. The association will increase by $1 per $100 of outstanding loan the price it will pay when it buys government-backed mortgages.

—Instructed the Federal Home Loan Bank Board to advance money at lower interest rates and thus encourage reduction in the mortgage rates charged by savings and loan associations.

The White House said the actions were taken because the President and his advisers considered mortgage interest rates to be unrealistically high.

The actions came as the House Banking Committee approved 13-5 a housing bill more sweeping than the one requested by the President. However, committee chairman Brent Spence, D-Ky., said he was sure the measure would be acceptable to the President.

Rep. Albert Rains, D-Ala., chairman of the subcommittee that drafted the bill, placed a $4.9 billion price tag on it, about

Institute

Evelyn Yvonne Barnett, Ruth Ellen Huffman and Mimi Claire Landry, all Monroe high school students, have been selected as participants in the second Summer Science Institute for high ability secondary school students to be held in Ruston at Louisiana Tech this summer.

The institute, supported by the National Science Foundation, is for boys and girls who have demonstrated unusual ability and interest in high school science and mathematics courses.

Professor William R. Higgs, institute director, stated that the participants in the institute have been chosen from a list of applicants nominated by their school principals and science teachers.

Refinishing

There's been a change for the better in the Ouachita Parish Police Jury office.

All the old dark wood chairs and benches, plus the president's desk, were refinished — and look like new. The furniture is solid light walnut, and the rich-looking wood is a very pleasing contrast from sleek modern office equipment.

Little had to be done to the president's chair — although

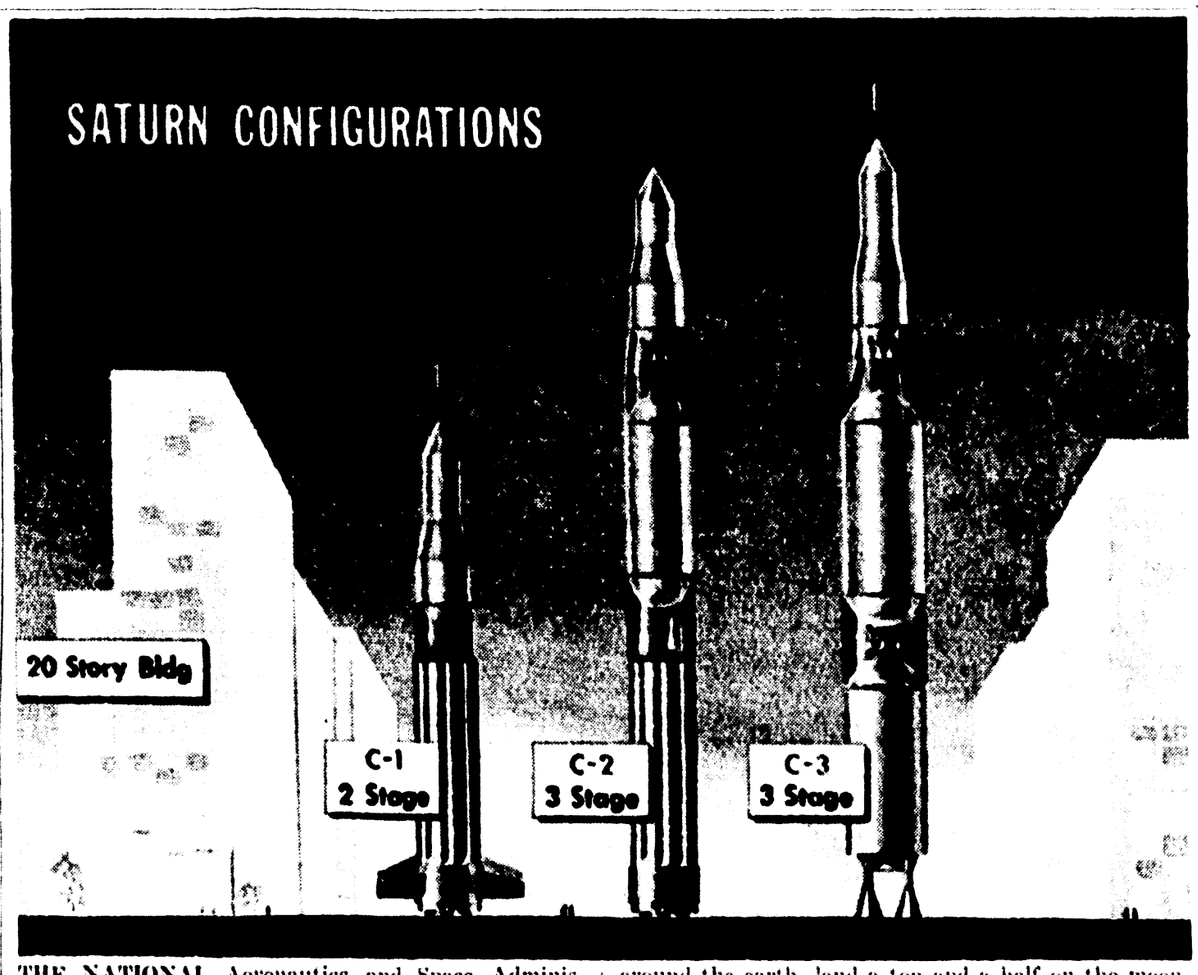
Korean Army Rebellion Ends

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — The South Korean army ended its 10-day rebellion against U. S. Gen. Carter B. Magruder's United Nations Command Friday after extracting several concessions from Magruder.

The four-star general regained control over all military forces in South Korea after agreeing to use the troops solely for defense against Communist aggression and after releasing to the ruling junta an estimated 3,300 soldiers to occupy Seoul.



THE NATIONAL Aeronautics and Space Administration released this drawing Friday in Washington of the three proposed versions of the Saturn rocket. Accompanying caption material said: The C-1, scheduled for launch this year, is designed to orbit three men around the earth. Weighing 500 tons at liftoff it is 180 feet tall with payload. The C-2, 209 feet tall, will be capable of orbiting payloads of more than 22 tons around the earth, land a ton and a half on the moon, or put instruments on Mars or Venus. The C-3 will have two new kerosene engines, each developing 1.5 million pounds of thrust. It will be capable of putting 50 tons into earth orbit, fly a multiple crew around the Moon, or send 12 tons on a one-way trip to Mars. (NASA photo via AP Wirephoto)

Big Booster May Hasten Moon Flight

TULSA, Okla. (UPI) — Dr. Werher von Braun Friday revealed a "radical departure" in his booster design which space experts said could put a crew of men around the moon some two years ahead of present schedules.

By carrying the "radical departure" farther in later designs, von Braun said, "We could land a locomotive on the moon if anyone wanted one there."

CENTER DIRECTOR

Von Braun is director of the Marshall Space Flight Center, Huntsville, Ala., of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA).

He is in charge of NASA's program to develop rocket boosters powerful enough to carry out manned explorations of the moon and planets.

In a talk at the first national conference on peaceful uses of space, von Braun disclosed that the Saturn's rocket thrust of 1.5 million pounds will be doubled by the new departure while at the same time its 8-clustered engines will be reduced to two.

This is the first time a NASA official has discussed this plan for the third or C3 version of Saturn. The C3, a space expert told United Press International, could be ready for flight test in early 1963.

This means it might well be ready for manned missions, including the flight of the three-man crew around the moon and back, at least two years ahead of the present target date of 1967.

Not even the C3, however, could land a crew on the moon in a space craft with sufficient power to carry it back to earth. But the C3's engine could be clustered in large numbers to produce 12 million pounds of thrust, von Braun said.

This is the familiar "nova concept" of boosters to follow Saturn. Von Braun said Nova

Howard's Wife Sells State Car

By SAM HANNA
World Staff Writer

BATON ROUGE — A white Cadillac limousine was purchased for Jimmie H. Davis from a Ruston automobile dealer, who is the wife of a highway board member drawing over $700 monthly during the fiscal year now ending.

The 1961 limousine was bought by the state on a low bid basis from Early Cherrolet Company, owned by Mrs. Jannie Howard, whose husband was appointed by Davis to the highway board.

Board records showed that Howard and his wife stayed in hotels eight times on state expense between August and February at Baton Rouge, and once for three days at Biloxi, Miss., on state expense.

The Cadillac, listed by the Ruston company at $8,345, was sold to the state last November through the state police for $8,233, plus the trade-in of a 1959 Cadillac limousine.

Other bids submitted included:

OTHER BIDS

Lamar T. Loe Tallulah $8,375, with trade-in; Roundtree Olds - Cadillac, Shreveport, $8,761.10, with trade-in; Jim Austin, Baton Rouge, $8,114.52 with trade-in; and Ponchartrain Motor Co., New Orleans, $8,432.53 with trade-

Tornadoes Hit Florida Coasts, Damage Heavy

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Small tornadoes lashed off the sea into both Florida coasts Friday, bringing extensive property damage in Fort Lauderdale and Sarasota.

One twister moved off the Atlantic Ocean and tore through Broward International Airport at Fort Lauderdale, ripping 35 private planes loose from tie-downs and slamming them together. Robert Uricho Jr., president of the Sunny South Aircraft Service which services executive planes, estimated the damage at $250,000.

Another tornado from the Gulf of Mexico struck the southern section of Sarasota. Wind and pressure broke the glass in two drive-in teller booths at the Sarasota National Bank, unroofed a nearby building and blew down telephone and power lines. Two women tellers at the bank were cut by flying glass.

Observers said the Fort Lauderdale tornado did not touch the ground but was close enough to create a vicious updraft. It demolished a large trailer used as an electronics shop.

Clear And Mild Weather Slated

Is it an early fall or has winter returned? Probably neither and in a few days we'll be wishing the nice cool leather experienced Friday would be back.

The unseasonally cool high Friday was 76 and the mercury dropped to 60 degrees overnight.

The forecaster says that weather through the weekend will continue mild and pleasant with clear to partly cloudy skies prevailing today and Sunday. The high today will be in the 70's and more cool weather is on tap tonight.

Brooks Says U.S. Leading In Missiles

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A top congressional authority said Friday that the United States has wiped out any missile lag and is now outproducing the Russians in intercontinental ballistic weapons.

Chairman Overton Brooks of the House Space Committee made the statement in a speech to the National Rivers and Harbors Congress.

The Louisiana Democrat said the United States has "overcome and eliminated" any military missile lag. The matter was the center of political controversy during the Eisenhower administration.

Brooks said there is evidence that this country is outproducing the Soviet Union in intercontinental ballistic missiles (ICBM's).

He said the next objective of U. S. military space planners is development of defenses against enemy missile attack. He also predicted future successes in space communications.

"Within 18 months," Brooks said, "we will have a global space communications system. Within three years, we will complete the system to where we can communicate instantly without benefit of wires between any points on the planet."

He said that only engineering details remain to be worked out for establishing a global television system. He also predicted the development of space vehicles that will provide long range weather forecasting and save the nation from periodic floods and other natural disasters.

Algeria Rioters Battle Police

ORAN, Algeria (UPI) — Hundreds of European settlers Friday night fought police with paving stones and roughed up Oran police chief Jules Plettner in protest against the Algerian peace talks.

The mob grappled with riot squad members and French army troops on a wide avenue in the European section of this western Algerian port city.

They grabbed Plettner and two police commissioners when they drove up in a jeep to direct police action. While one group held the officials, another group irked rioters locked up in police vans.

The men held Plettner as a hostage against the police fighting them, but a squad of riot police clubbed their way through the crowd, firing clouds of tear gas ahead of them, and freed him. Several policemen were hurt by flying stones in the rescue.

Advanced Atlas Receives Test

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — An advanced model Atlas missile, America's mightiest war rocket, hurled a dummy warhead 5,000 miles into a target in the South Atlantic ocean Friday night.

The silvery, 85-foot Atlas, loaded with hundreds of pounds of test instruments, blasted from a launching pad at the missile testing center here at 10:25 p.m. EDT.

About a half hour later, its multi-ton nose cone slammed into the water near Ascension Island, off Africa's west coast.

The Air Force said preliminary radio data received from transmitters aboard the 17,000-mile-per-hour rocket "indicated the missile performed as planned ..."

Bob Kennedy Sees Negro As President

Prediction Made In Broadcast To Over 60 Nations

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy told the world Friday the United States — despite Alabama violence — is moving so fast in race relations a Negro could be president in 40 years.

Using Voice of America transmitters, Kennedy told the people of more than 60 countries that the mob of white people who beat Negro and white "Freedom Riders" in Montgomery last weekend represented only a tiny minority of Americans.

CITE VIEWS

"They do not represent the people in the South," Kennedy said. They certainly do not represent the attitude of the U.S. government or the American people."

Kennedy recalled that his grandfather came to Boston as an Irish immigrant. At that time, Kennedy said, "The Irish were not wanted here."

"Now we have a Catholic president of the United States," the attorney general said, referring to his brother, President Kennedy.

"There is no question about it," the attorney general said. "In the next 40 years a Negro can achieve the same position that my brother has."

Kennedy broadcast — Kennedy was an attempt to offset some of

Defendants Also Given Suspended 2-Month Terms

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) — Twenty-seven "freedom riders" were convicted Friday of breaking a Mississippi anti-riot law and were given suspended sentences of 60 days in jail and fined $200 each. They unanimously agreed to remain in jail rather than pay the fines.

The convictions were expected to touch off a new, massive wave of "freedom riders" into Mississippi and other parts of the South, possibly as early as this weekend.

The 27 riders, including two white youths, were returned to their cells in city jail after the trial where they had been since their arrests Wednesday. They conferred for three hours with Jack Young, a local Negro attorney, who later announced they had unanimously agreed to remain behind bars "as a means of calling attention to others the conditions in Mississippi."

EXPECTS BONDS

However, Young said he expected all of them to have gone free on appeal bonds before serving out the 60 days necessary to pay their fines.

The convictions came in the municipal court of youthful Judge James L. Spencer following two hours of testimony and arguments by the prosecution and four defense attorneys including the National Director of the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE).

Spencer handed down his decision after delivering a statement from the bench saying it was patently clear that the defendant

2 Indicted In Vice Raid Conspiracy

NEWPORT, Ky. (AP) — The Campbell County grand jury Friday night indicted Tito Carinci of Newport and returned a surprise indictment against Thomas L. Ratterman, Madeira, Ohio, Carinci business associate of George Ratterman charging them with conspiracy to bring about Ratterman's arrest in what Newport police said was a vice raid.

The indictment grew out of Ratterman's arrest early last May with a striptease dancer in the Geisa Hotel. Carinci is manager of the hotel and an associate night spot, the Tropicana.

The indictment charged Carinci and Ratterman with conspiring on or about May 8, to cause a false prosecution against Ratterman.

The indictment accused them of "administering or causing to have administered to Ian (Ratterman) chloral hydrate for the purpose of placing him in a hotel room with a certain female for the purpose of bringing about his arrest and instituting a false prosecution against him, thereby tending to injure the said George Ratterman in his reputation."

Judge Joseph Rolf last Saturday in police court threw out charges against Ratterman of breach of the peace, resisting arrest and disorderly conduct.

Ratterman, reform candidate for sheriff, contended he was drugged and framed.

Dismissal of the charges at request of the prosecution came after unbreakable testimony by a photographer, Thomas Winthrop, who said a man connected with the Tropicana night club wanted him to be ready to take a picture of a man and woman in a room under strange circumstances.

Woman Laughs Off N.O. Bank Holdup Threat

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A woman bank teller laughed off a holdup threat Friday and the would-be robber fled in frustration.

Mrs. Elizabeth Beard, teller in the Canal Street branch of the National Bank of Commerce said a short, dark-haired man approached her window and passed across a printed note saying:

"This is a holdup.

"For $500-$20 $50 in the order neatly.

"If alarm is given before I leave I shoot any man, teller who gets in my way here or outside.

"Wait five minutes.

"I mean business."

At the same time, the man pushed a folder on her counter.

Mrs. Beard, who was holding about $150 in her hand, finished and told the man, "This is all the money I've got. I have to go in back and get some more."

As she walked towards the back of the bank's area, the man fled.

Mrs. Beard said the man kept his hand in a coat pocket, but she did not see a gun.

Mrs. McCarthy Plans To Wed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Mrs. Jean Kerr McCarthy, widow of the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, will marry G. Joseph Minetti of the Civil Aeronautics Board, it was disclosed Friday.

Both Mrs. McCarthy and Minetti confirmed the engagement but said no wedding date has been set. Mrs. McCarthy said they had been planning to make a formal announcement soon.

A division of administration official said every Cadillac dealer in Louisiana was notified of the bidding about two weeks in advance of the Oct. 18 opening.

Purchase of the limousine was transacted Nov. 7, 1960 according to records in the division of administration office.

Meantime, Howard has drawn $5,525 in per diem pay since the outset of his tenure on the board, plus $643.77 for meals and $276.05 for hotels.

His total, including other items such as a $14.23 brief case, comes to $6,579.13. That is a monthly average of $731.

Only other board member drawing more than Howard is Sylvan R. Sibley, Alexandria, $6,642.

Here is a breakdown on the state paid hotel expenses submitted by Howard for him and his wife:

August 23 — $15.45, Capitol House, Baton Rouge.
Sept. 21 — $15.45, Capitol House Baton Rouge.
Nov. 13 — $24.96 daily, Bocca Vista Hotel, Biloxi, Miss.
Nov. 9 — $15.45, Capitol House Baton Rouge.

Feb. 21-22 — $31.35, Capitol House, Baton Rouge.
Mar. [illegible] — [illegible]

Sibley's expenses are $1,062.

Howard and Sibley are members of the state highway commission, which has been criticized for its handling of the Mississippi River bridge project. The commission has been charged with favoritism in awarding contracts.

Six members of the board have drawn $31,548.11 in per diem and expense funds in nine months.

Two members, however, have not drawn per diem pay — Otto Candies, Des Allemands, and Ted W. Price, Lake Charles.

Besides Howard and Sibley other board members and their per diem are Marvin W. Bass $6,[illegible]; G. E. Summers, Abbeville, $[illegible]; Anthony G. Devoney Jr., New Orleans, $3,619 and H. C. Morgan, Baton Rouge, $2,536.

THIS WAS THE CIVIL WAR

By MERTON T. AKERS
United Press International

Before the North could hope to bring its superior forces to bear on the South, Washington and the border states must be made safe.

One front was secured when Federal troops occupied Alexandria, Va., and nearby Arlington Heights on May 24, 1861.

Simultaneously President Lincoln was closing in on Maryland, where the secessionists had attacked the 6th Massachusetts Infantry and cut the capital's only rail line to the rest of the North. If Maryland went to the Confederacy or even remained in the Union at the points of Federal bayonets, then Washington would be a beleaguered capital. If Washington fell, then England and France seemed likely to take a hand in the dismemberment of the nation and that would guarantee the freedom of the South.

BORDER PROBLEM

The border states of Kentucky and Missouri posed another kind of a problem.

If Kentucky decided to throw in with the South, then the Ohio River would become a battleline and the heart of the North — Ohio, Indiana and Illinois — would be laid open to the threat of invasion. But with Kentucky in the Union it would provide a buffer.

Missouri on the far right flank of the Union stuck like a huge wedge into free state territory. With Missouri in Confederate hands the South could strike north into Iowa and east into Illinois. St. Louis, lying between the confluence of the Missouri and the Mississippi Rivers, and near the point where the Ohio flows into the Mississippi, was a strategic point the North must hold.

The western counties of Virginia the area which later became West Virginia were in revolt against the Richmond government. Lincoln wanted to make sure this strategic section was chipped away from the Confederacy. On May 24 Lt. Gen. Winfield Scott, commander-in-chief of the Army, ordered Maj. Gen. George B McClellan, commanding the department to "act promptly" against Confederate activity near Grafton, a rail center on the Baltimore and Ohio the nation's east - west lifeline.

Two Federal columns of about 1,500 men each, on June 3, surprised about 1,500 Confederates under Col. A. G. Porterfield at Philippi, 30 miles south of Grafton, and routed them, capturing their camp equipment. The casualties were: 2 Federals, 15 Confederates — all wounded — in this first land action.

MOVES IN MARYLAND

In Maryland by early May, 1861, Lincoln was ready to move. On May 4, Federal troops occupied Relay House, the vital railroad junction north of Washington where the Baltimore and Ohio came in from the west. On May 13, 1,000 Federal troops under Maj. Gen Benjamin F. Butler marched into Baltimore and entrenched on Federal Hill, overlooking the city.

This was Butler's first big time job in the war. He was a Massachusetts politician and lawyer. His enemies claimed he got all corners to win, battle or lobby. When the war started he left Massachusetts troops to the capital and received from Lincoln, over many protests, a commission as a major general of volunteers. He would come to be known as "Beast" Butler to the South and would be highly unsuccessful as a general, but he hung on nearly four years before being removed.

He acted with speed and determination in Baltimore. Southern sympathizers were rounded up and clapped into Ft. McHenry. One of them was Ross Winans, an industrialist who was charged with making 5,000 pikes for the Confederate Army. Butler said hanging Winans, supposedly worth $15 million, would be a good lesson for traitors. Winans was released later, his fire eating much subdued.

Another of the arrested was John Merryman, accused of treason and imprisoned in Ft. McHenry at 2 a.m. May 25.

Merryman's lawyers the same day went before Chief Justice of the U.S. Roger Taney, who lived in Baltimore, and demanded a writ of habeas corpus. Taney issued the writ against Gen. George Cadwallader, who had succeeded Butler. The general was ordered to produce Merryman in court. Instead he sent a staff officer who informed Chief Justice Taney that the writ of habeas corpus had been suspended by President Lincoln. Taney, with no forces to execute the writ, capitulated, but he wrote to Lincoln calling on the President to perform his Constitutional duties. Lincoln replied, not to Taney, but to Congress in his message to the special session July 4. He based his suspension of the writ on constitutional grounds that the public safety was endangered.

Union sentiment in Maryland, timid earlier in the face of quick secessionist action, began to assert itself. In June a complete Union slate of congressmen was elected and the state began to fill its troop quotas. Thereafter it was loyal, although many Marylanders went South to join the Confederate Army.

Lincoln used a sort of do-nothing policy to save Kentucky. Union sentiment was strong there, but the state early declared itself neutral, thereby exciting the suspicions of both sides. Gov. Beriah Magoffin refused to furnish troops on Lincoln's April 17 call. After Sumter he allowed Confederate recruiters to operate in the state for a time but soon cut them off.

HANDS OFF KENTUCKY

Lincoln, who was born in Kentucky and knew the state well, wisely kept hands off. By June 10 Union sentiment was strong enough to elect nine of 10 congressmen in a special election by a 2-to-1 margin. There the situation remained until September when the Confederates occupied Columbus, Ky., and broke the neutrality. Kentucky was definitely Union thereafter, although many of its sons went South to fight.

The governor of Missouri, Clairborne Jackson, favored secession and refused Lincoln's call for troops. He mobilized the state militia, part of which was quartered on the western edge of St. Louis in Camp Jackson. Capt. Nathaniel Lyon, a fierce anti-slavery man who commanded the Federal troops guarding the arsenal, moved several thousand troop around the camp on May 10 and captured it and the southern militia, about 700 men. Then he marched them into St. Louis, presumably to show southern sympathizers that he meant business. A mob attacked the troops, who fired back and killed 28 persons, one of them a baby. Another six died the next day in a similar fight. Two of the civilian onlookers to this violence were Ulysses S. Grant and William T. Sherman.

Francis P. Blair Jr., a powerful Republican politician in St. Louis and a former congressman, backed Lyon and, working with his brother, Montgomery Blair, postmaster general, succeeded in maneuvering Gen. W. S. Harney, Lyon's superior and department commander, out of office and putting Lyon in his place.

Blair and Lyon on June 21 repudiated a truce Harney and Sterling Price, commanding the Missouri southern forces, had agreed on and which seemed in a fair way to pacify the state.

In four days after that, the fighting started in Missouri and would continue the entire four years of the war with continuous guerrilla action.

STRIKERS BLOCK TRAFFIC

MILAN, Italy (UPI) — Striking engineering workers Friday blocked traffic in downtown Milan and hurled bricks and bottles at police. Police rode jeeps through the crowd of about 1,500 and turned water hoses on the demonstrators, who have been on strike for some time against the Breda Engineering Works.

GOP Warns JFK's Spending To Bring Disaster

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican congressional leaders said Friday the country is headed for a fiscal disaster of major proportions unless President Kennedy's spending programs are curbed.

The GOP leaders, Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana and Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, said Kennedy is taking the country into "a jungle of unprecedented spending and loose fiscal policy."

"Never in the history of our country," they said, "has any administration so blindly plunged into the future with so little thought or so little preparation."

The Republican House and Senate leaders held their weekly conference and then appeared before television cameras with statements blasting the Kennedy administration.

Cuba's Prisoner Sales

Some members of congress are justifiably disturbed and angry at the proposal to exchange United States earth-moving tractors and equipment for the freedom of 1,200 Cuban-invasion prisoners. In this way, Cuban Premier Fidel Castro would be able to get all the American tractors he wants free of charge by the simple method of seizing a few hundred prisoners and offering them for sale.

Crackling charges by congressmen were reported threatening the tractors-for-prisoners trade.

A flurry of heated speeches on which Castro's proposal was described as a "heinous barter" by an "inhuman monster" kept the senate in an uproar for some time.

From Cuba meanwhile had come reports that Castro had threatened to break off negotiations.

It seems incredible that some of the best - known and sometimes highly regarded American citizens would attach themselves to a scheme to enrich the little bearded Cuban upstart at the expense of the United States, even though the intention was to obtain the money from private individuals. Reportedly heading the committee to hand over the tractors to Castro were Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, wife of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt; Milton Eisenhower, brother of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, and Walter Reuther, head of the United Auto Workers and big shot in the American Federation of Labor-Congress of Industrial Organizations.

Mrs. Roosevelt and Reuther are leftist-socialists and Milton Eisenhower was one of the men President Eisenhower listened to oftenest when he made wrong decisions. But, even so, it is strange that they should want to assist a man who is a proclaimed enemy of the United States.

A somewhat interesting side feature of the whole thing is that John Clake the Barber) Factor of Beverly Hills, Calif., said he had wired $25,000 to Mrs. Roosevelt to help ransom the Cuban prisoners.

Factor was the object of a $200,000 ransom attempt after he was kidnapped by a Chicago mob in 1933.

Continuing in his usual arrogant style, Castro was quoted as saying: "If the insults of Mr. Kennedy's agents continue with regard to the indemnification Cuba demands, then all discussion will be stopped and the mercenaries (prisoners) will have to face the revolutionary tribunals of the Cuban people."

Castro reportedly was infuriated by the United States' calling the proposal an exchange. He has insisted it would be indemnification for damage caused by the invasion.

Whatever Castro's reasons may be for wanting to call off the deal, we are definitely in favor of doing exactly that, not to please him but because such a plan for aiding the Cuban communists should not have been proposed in the first place.

Exchange or indemnification, United States senators minced no words against the proposition.

Senator Wayne Morse, D., Ore., chairman of the senate Latin American subcommittee, said the state department owes it to the American people to make a statement of policy on the offer. Morse called it "a dangerous thing to countenance" voluntary committees whose operations "are bound to have repercussions on our foreign policy." He asked Secretary of State Dean Rusk to announce "what the position of our government is."

Senator J. W. Fulbright, D., Ark., chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, said he did not believe the government "should lend itself to that kind of a blackmail operation."

"If sponsors of the fund-raising drive are acting without President Kennedy's authority, they are violating the law," said Senator Homer E. Capehart, R., Ind.

Senator Carl E. Mundt, R., S.D., said if the department was going along with a policy of "appeasement" of Castro by "silent cooperation" with the fund-raising group.

Speech-making erupted once more when Senator Styles Bridges, R., N. H., asked, "How much more humiliation and contempt must we suffer from this communist dictator?"

Buying prisoners from Castro would be about the same as if we had supplied Germany with munitions and equipment during World Wars I and II in order to get back some of the men who had been captured. Of course, if we had done that, we would have strengthened Germany and thus enabled that nation to capture more of our men.

If we give Cuba tractors and equipment we will be enabling Castro to move against us with greater strength, not to mention the fact that whatever prestige we have left with the other nations of the world would suffer a further decline.

Folk-Singing Ban

Folk singing is one of the cleanest and most wholesome forms of entertainment known in this country and who would think of a place where it would be likely to cause less disturbance than in a public park, where people presumably go for fun, laughter and noise? Yet a ban has been placed on folk singing in New York's Washington Square park.

The whole thing seems to be based on the idea that a park is something to look at and not to enjoy. Apparently people are expected only to cruise through in their automobiles or to stroll through quietly or sit around silently on the park benches, if they can do that without getting on the grass.

Many parks already ban ball-throwing, bicycle-riding, roller-skating and walking on the grass. Indeed, in a good many of the parks, any activity that has the slightest tinge of human enjoyment is criticized as an "infringement" on "clean" and "attractive" parks.

Fortunately, the city of Monroe thus far generally has taken a different view of the purpose of parks and considers that they are something which the people should enjoy. Bernstein park in particular is designed for activities, rather than "sacred" spots to gaze upon.

In some cities the ultimate goal for parks seems to be "No People Allowed."

This attitude is a symbol of the times and of the administrative mind. Everything must be managed by some authority, some one who does not want to let anybody do anything spontaneously. It is the same symptom which characterizes the socialists and leftists who want to see everything done and managed by the government. It is the opposite of democracy and the idea of letting the people act on their own accord.

To the administrative mind, man was made for the Sabbath, not the Sabbath for man. People interfer with the administrator's neat little plans.

If we are to have parks without people, why not also have hospitals and libraries without people and maybe public housing too. Socitlists and leftists want public housing but the people in the projects do create a nuisance. They eat, which creates nasty garbage, and have children and children dirty the walls, windows, lawns and driveways.

If people would only pay plenty of taxes, keep out of the way and let the government run things, we could have the most admirable situation in the world for the top politicians, but not the people.

$33-Billion Space Plans

Stupendous Program Contemplated By President Kennedy Scheduled To Be Made Public In June

President Kennedy is preparing a stupendous $33 billion 10-year national space program.

Scheduled to be made public in June, the massive new program has a goal to overtake Russia in the exploitation of outer space including the first manned flight to the moon.

The President's program calls for the boosting of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's budget to $26 billion for the fiscal year starting July 1, 1962 or approximately double the $1,376,000,000 that the House approved this week.

The plan provides for the launching of a billion dollar development program of the nuclear rocket Rover for use in space flight by 1967, a tremendous speed up in the development of the giant Saturn rocket booster, and the starting of a new multi-million dollar solid fuel rocket booster program.

Spending is scheduled to reach $3 billion a the fiscal year starting July 1, 1963, and will stay at that peak level during the remaining eight years of the program.

The President gave these and other still secret details of the new long-range space program to Representative Overton Brooks, D-La., chairman of the House Space Committee, at a private White House briefing.

The President told Brooks that he and Vice President Johnson, chairman of the National Space Council, were still studying a request by NASA for an extra $500 million in funds for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Approval of these funds, according to the President, hinges on whether Space Administrator James Webb can show that the extra half billion dollars can be "usefully spent" during the next 12 months to speed up the program.

Budget Bureau officials are opposing the increase now on the grounds that the Space Agency can't use such a tremendous hike in funds until next year.

NUCLEAR DECISIONS — In addition to launching the development of the nuclear rocket Rover, the President made another far-reaching policy decision on the use of nuclear power in the space program.

He approved the use of a nuclear power unit, known as Snap 2, in satellites.

Technically, the decision is tremendously important for the future of the space program. The small nuclear power unit offers a solution to the critical problem of providing power for operating satellite radios and instruments over a long period.

In making his decision, the President overrode strong objections by the State Department. Top aides of Secretary Rusk warned of possible adverse world opinion if U. S. put radioactive material in space and by an accident the material lands on foreign soil.

Atomic Energy Commission and Space Agency officials recommended that the nuclear power unit be used in experimental satellites. They took the position that the odds were at least ten thousand to one against any accident occuring.

ATOMIC WATCHDOG — The furor over leaks of atomic secrets in Great Britain is stirring the Kennedy Administration to take new security precautions.

Atomic Energy Commission and State Department officials are rushing work on a plan for establishment of a Joint U. S.-British board to coordinate security and intelligence work in atomic energy.

They hope to have the plan ready for President Kennedy to present to Prime Minister Macmillan when the two Western leaders confer in Europe next week.

The decision to push for the joint - board came after key members of the Senate-House Atomic Committee warned the White House that if the British didn't take steps to tighten up their security the committee might vote to end the sharing of nuclear secrets.

NEW FRONTIERS — A crack British Army team is coming to the U. S. next month to advise the U. S. military leaders on anti-guerrilla warfare. The group will include veterans of the 10-year anti-guerrilla war in Malaya.

DR. PETER J. STEINCROHN

Pessimism Ills

Surgeons Shudder At Operating On Patient Who's Hopeless

Q. Is it true that the pessimistic patient is a poor surgical risk? — Mr. T., Washington, D. C.

A. As a medical man, I can't give you the actual reactions of a surgeon when his patient says: "Doctor, I have a lot of confidence in you. But I just know I'll never come out of the anesthetic."

However, I can tell you this: many of my surgical friends actually shudder when they have to perform major surgery on a patient who "just knows he's going to die."

Call it being superstitious or what you will, but things have gone wrong too often in such instances to pass them off as coincidences. Unlooked for complications and many fatalities have followed in the wake of such expressions of despair and hopelessness.

Having treated thousands of patients with pneumonia, those suffering from coronary attacks and other severe medical illnesses, I can vouch for the fact that optimistic patients seemed to have the better chance for recovery, all other things being equal.

I can't give you a scientific explanation. Perhaps fear and anxiety produce some vital changes in the adrenal, pituitary and thyroid glands which throw the body's resistance out of gear. Perhaps the patient's anxiety is contagious. His doctor becomes unconsciously infected with fear and lessened hope. Whatever the cause, we doctors are heartened to have cheerful and optimistic patients as partners.

I shall never forget the story told by the surgeon who performed the operation about the patient who was to undergo surgery for the removal of entire lung because of lung cancer. His was to be the first such operation in the history of medicine. He agreed.

The doctor gave him an appointment for preliminary study in a few days. But the patient didn't keep it. After an hour had passed the surgeon could not help thinking: "I guess the poor fellow thought it over and was too scared to go through with it."

But lo, the patient ran in, breathless, and said: "So sorry to be late. But I was held up at my dentist's. I decided to be fitted for some bridgework so I could have it right after the operation."

Such manifestation of complete faith and optimism buoyed up the surgeon more than anything he had ever experienced in his practice. Think of a man approaching such an ordeal (never before experienced by another human) with such confidence.

Yes, there was a happy ending. The patient recovered and lived for many years after this dramatic operation.

Moral, if any: The patient with a smile often makes treatment worthwhile.

MAKE NO IMPORTANT DECISIONS LATE AT NIGHT

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I came across a column you wrote many months ago. In it you said that people should not make any important decision when they are tired; especially not late at night.

Last night I had the phone in my hand for the purpose of calling a lawyer friend to start divorce proceedings against my husband. Following your advice, I decided to wait until this morning.

What a difference a few hours sleep make! I feel like a new person. I convinced my husband to go to a doctor to see if he could find any reason for his being so crabby and hard to live with.

Guess what? My poor Tommy has been suffering from an ulcer. Neither of us suspected that the ulcer was what was eating him up; and what was causing him to chew me up.

Just think how I would have felt if I had carried out my decision for divorce! I certainly agree with you that the dead of night is not the best time to make an important decision. — Mrs. H., New Jersey

Comment: Whether the problem is one of health, business or inter-personal relationships, you can't go wrong by postponing action until the sun comes up and lets you take a better look — while refreshed and not deadened by fatigue.

For Mrs. E., New York: Yes, it is true that many people who have rheumatic heart disease cannot recall having had an attack of rheumatic fever with inflamed joints many years ago. Sometimes the only past evidence of possible streptococcis invasion is a series of severe sore throats. In young children, the only complaint may have been "growing pains" in their arms and legs.

The other day I saw a 55-year old woman with mitral stenosis and auricular fibrillation, a common heart irregularity in rheumatic heart disease. She was certain that she had no outstanding infection at any time in her life.

I tell you this, Mrs. E., so you will not doubt your doctor's diagnosis. It is possible that you may have mitral stenosis.

Dr. Steincrohn's leaflet, "How To Stop Killing Yourself," will be mailed to you on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 10 cents in coin for handling charges. Address your request to Dr. Steincrohn, in care of this newspaper.

THE ALMANAC

By United Press International

Today is Saturday, May 27 the 147th day of the year with 218 more in 1961.

The moon is approaching its full phase.

The morning stars are Jupiter, Venus and Saturn.

The evening stars are Mercury and Mars.

On this day in history:

In 1813, American feminist Amelia Bloomer was born.

In 1819, Julia Ward Howe, anti-slavery and woman suffrage leader and author of the lyrics of "Battle Hymn of the Republic" was born.

In 1933, the Century of Progress Exposition opened in Chicago.

In 1935, the Supreme Court declared the National Industrial Recovery Act unconstitutional.

In 1937, the Golden Gate Bridge in San Francisco Bay was opened.

Thought for today: Charles Kingsley, English novelist, said, "To be discontended with the divine discontent, and to be ashamed with the nobele shame, is the very germ and first ungrowth of all virtue."

GEORGE SOKOLOSKY

Taxation Grabs

Just About Every Source Of Revenue Seized By Government

How a tax - greedy Federal government has grabbed off from the States just about every source of taxation has been emphasized again and again during the Senate debate on the Administration's bill to authorize $2,550,000,000 in grants to the States for construction of public schools or payment of school teachers' salaries.

Proposals that the Federal government return a part of these taxes to the States without any string attached were made in a number of amendments, all of which were defeated but drew respectable support including some from ultra - liberal Senate members.

The first of the new approaches to aid to education was the amendment to Senator William A. Brakley, Democrat, Texas, which, in its final form, provided that two percent of the Federal taxes on personal income collected from each state be returned to the state for educational uses.

An amendment by Senator Norris Cotton, Republican, New Hampshire, proposed a repayment to each state in the Union of 3 cents out of 8 cents, or 37½ per cent of the Federal cigarette tax collected in that state from the people in the state, which would be returned to the Treasury of such states earmarked for educational purposes.

There were similar proposals from other Senators.

The most enlightening portion of the debate was on the Blakely and Cotton proposals. The virtue of the Blakley and Cotton contrivances as well as one by Senator Francis Case, Republican, South Dakota, were that they envisaged a permanent policy.

The Administration bill provides for a three - year program. Once Washington gets into the education aid field through the method it proposed there would of necessity be extensions for school districts throughout the nation would have set up their budgets for construction, for teachers' salaries, for new teachers, and special projects.

At the end of 3 years, if this money on the traditional Federal aid plan was not continued, those school district budgets would be wrecked.

Senator Cotton's amendment offered this preamble:

"The Congress hereby finds and declares that responsibility for and control over education is one of the powers not delegated to the United States, but reserved to the States or the people under the tenth amendment to the Constitution."

His formula, Cotton said, would "adopt a form of assistance to the education of the youth of this country that is not subject to all the difficulties, dissensions, constitutional objections related to the questions of racial prejudice, aid to children in church and religious schools, and all other such complicating questions."

Senator William Proxmire, Democrat, Wisconsin, an ultra - liberal, supporting the Cotton amendment, said:

"I believe it has the merit of making interference by the Federal Government about as difficult as it could be. I think that is good. I find that in the state of Wisconsin and elsewhere people are concerned about the prospect of Federal interference. My mail indicates that their overwhelming concern is that there might be Federal dictation in the field of education."

Blakley told the Senate: "If this bill is enacted, the Federal Government will begin to move into one of the last sanctuaries of state and local operation — the field of public education."

Going to the increasingly acute problem of State financing, caused largely by the Federal Government thrusting itself into all the lush sources of taxes, Senator Jack Miller, Republican, Iowa, told the Senate.

"If the Federal Government had not literally usurped from States the various sources of raising revenue, and if the States had, for example, the entire income from the cigarette tax, if the Federal Government had never gotten into the cigarette tax field, I venture the guess that we would not be confronted with Federal aid problems today."

Senator Cotton put in this additional plug for his amendment:

"Practically every cent of the amount would go straight to the State or its use in assisting education. No brokerage fee would be collected by the Federal Government. No slice of it would be sticking to the palms of the Federal Government in Washington in the form of administrative expenses. There would not be an increasing or expanding bureau in order to administer it, divide it up and determine a formula."

No Senator taking part in the debate thought the Federal Government is going to yield back to the States any tax source it has pre - empted, and Senator Miller thought in the continuing trend the day might come when "we will go to Federal aid in the payment of adequate salaries to State legislators and Governors."

But that "Federal Government" ogre, as Senators pictured it, was created by tax bills voted by Senators and Representatives in Congress. And that they only could vote the Federal Government out and the States into some of these fields.

Want to bet they will ever get a Congressional majority to do it?

BASCOM TIMMONS

Censoring Press

Public Officials Apparently Fear To Have Actions Known

For some reason, all of a sudden, more and more public officials are proposing some form of censorship of the press. Apparently, they are becoming increasingly tearful that the people will, in due course, know what goes on and will protest. Such a protest could swell into anger. An angry people can do unpleasant things to politicians, particularly in this country. They can and usually do throw them out of office.

John A. Fanning, a member of the National Labor Relations Board, was making a speech before the Southern Newspaper Executives' Clinic. He said that the N. L. R. B. tries to conduct bargaining rights elections without undue pressure. In a word, he prefers a vacuum. Fanning did not say so, but he apparently believes that only management and labor are concerned in a strike situation. He does not recognize that the consumer is equally affected by the outcome; that the general public is worried what a strike will do to the town, to the small businessmen, to grocers, butchers, beauticians, etc.

Fanning, not being concerned with the public interest, can say: "In the midst of labor disputes, the immediate parties may be torn by various loyalties, desires and even fears. They may look for guidance to any voice that speaks with authority—and the editorial page is such a voice."

Apparently, because the newspaper may speak in the name of the public interest and may be believed, the newspapers should be silent, should say nothing about what may be the most important question before that particular community.

The report does not say that those who attended this meeting of newspaper executives booed and hissed this bureaucrat when he proposed that newspapers be silent about the news. The probability is that when Fanning was through with his speech, he was duly applauded and perhaps even invited to dinner.

There is too little anger in this country, too few of us who have decided not to listen to nonsense, not to be pushed around by politicians and bureaucrats. Too many of us sit back and applaud whatever we listen to, even if it is a direct insult to our rights and our intelligence.

What is the value of a newspaper if it does not provide the truth in the news "guidance" in understanding the course of events? Is it just a jumble of words and pictures that are unrelated to each other and that provide neither meaning nor guidance?

It is because of lack of indignation on the part of our people that the Teheran papers have not yet been published. It is because of lack of indignation that the American people do not yet have the whole story of what happened in Cuba. Senator Gore opened the window a little bit but not enough to give the American people a full view of the confusion and bad thinking that produced what has come popularly to be called the Cuban Fiasco.

But what about the Laotian Fiasco and the Korean Fiasco? How many fiascos must we have before Congress asks for a public explanation? Executive sessions hide nothing from our enemies; they were there and know what happened. Executive sessions of a congressional committee only fool the American people. They make them believe that much is being done; actually nothing is done about errors, stupidities, political back-scratching until the public gets very angry.

Oliver Rites Held Friday; Local Attorney

Funeral services were conducted at 4 p.m. Friday in the Grace Episcopal Church for Monroe attorney and civic leader Travis Oliver Jr., who suffered a fatal heart attack early Friday in his home at 2010 Island Dr., Monroe.

Officiating was the Rev. A. Donald Davies, rector at the Grace Church, with interment, in Riverview Cemetery, under direction of the Hixson Bros. Funeral Home.

A native of Monroe and 49 years of age, Mr. Oliver was a member of the Monroe Utilities Commission from the time of its inception in 1936 until his resignation last year. He had served as chairman for several years.

Except for three years with the Navy during World War II, during which he saw service aboard the carrier U.S.S. Lexington, and with the Bureau of Aeronautics, Mr. Oliver was a practicing attorney in Monroe. He was discharged from service as a Navy lieutenant commander.

Active in business and local affairs, he was a member of the boards of directors of the Central Savings Bank and Trust Company and Savings Association. He was a former senior warden of the vestry at the Grace Episcopal Church, and a member of the Bayou DeSiard Country Club, Lotus Club, American, Louisiana and Fourth Judicial District Bar Associations and the Pi Kappa Alpha social fraternity.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Katherine Morrison Oliver, and two children, Travis III and Miss Nellie Oliver, and Mrs. Eve Bradford Aust, all of Monroe.

Pallbearers were William King Stubbs, Ted H. Allen, French L. Smith Sr., Wharton Brown, James D. Sparks, James H. Trousdale Jr., Amos Smelser and George M. Snellings Jr.

ASA ALBRIGHT, above, is the owner and operator of the new Albright's Tennaco Service station which has just opened at 7th and Arkansas Road in West Monroe.

Hospital Board Appointment Is Expected Soon

Appointment of a permanent board of directors for West Monroe's Glenwood Hospital, due to open early in 1962, will feature the annual convention in Shreveport next week of the Louisiana Methodist Conference.

Presently serving in the capacity is an interim board under chairman Harvey McDonald.

Duties of the permanent group will include operation of the hospital, naming of a superintendent, and accounting to the Ward Five Hospital Commission, which will act in the nature of a landlord.

Membership on the board is not restricted members of the Methodist Church officials pointed out.

Lassister Attacks 'Minority Rule' In Friday Talk

District Attorney Albin P. Lassiter Friday called for a return to the concept that what is best for the greatest number is best for all, adding, however, that the people of the United States now "seem to think that we must protect the minority groups even at the expense of the large majorities."

As featured speaker at a meeting of the Ouachita Parish Home Demonstration Council, he went on to point out that persons "carrying out this type of thinking . . . have sacrificed the rights of individuals, the rights of states, the rights of elected officials and the rights of parents to educate their children.

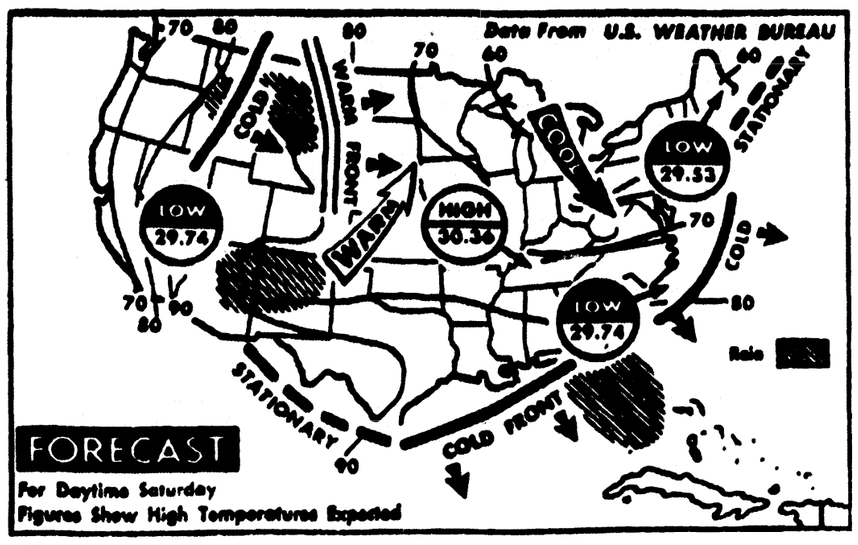
"We have come to think that our right can supersede all others, even though the results may be disastrous to an individual or a group of individuals."

Lassiter called current all-encompassing efforts to protect the real or imagined rights of minorities "a cancer eating out our very life's blood and vitality," and scored the blindness and inability of the American people to realize it.

"This blindness is caused by self-interest and fear. The politicians believe that the actions being taken by them are the popular ones, and they are more interested in being elected than the ultimate effects on the nation." He said they feared the reactions of minority groups because they vote as blocs, and can exercise exaggerated influences in elections.

Lassiter pointed to the shrewd advantage taken by leaders of small pressure groups through the use of catch words such as civil and fair employment practices to bemuse those persons in power.

He voiced agreement with Norman Thomas, central figure in the American Socialist Party, who declared that both the major party platforms in 1960 made his past platforms look like he was a conservative.



SHOWERS and thundershowers are forecast Saturday for northern parts of the Rockies, the Plains states, Arizona, New Mexico and Florida. It will be warmer in the northern and central plains, the Mississippi valley and part of the Ohio valley. It will be cooler along the north and central Atlantic coastal states and the northern Rockies. The rest of the nation should expect little temperature change. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Mishap Victim Services Today

Brupbacher Will Assume OPHS Principal's Post

New principal at Ouachita Parish High School June 1, succeeding I. C. Strickland will be present assistant principal Carl P. Brupbacher.

Brupbacher currently is completing 15 years experience in teaching and administrative work, other parts of which have been in the parish system. He is qualified for a position as city or parish supervisor, and is certified to teach music, English and physical education.

A native of New Orleans, the new principal graduated from McGehee High School before entering Southeastern College. Receiving his bachelor's degree from that institution, he went on to receive a master's in education from Louisiana State University.

With his retirement May 31, Strickland will complete a 37-year career in teaching and education here. He came to Monroe and OPHS in 1949.

Baptists Hear Editor Speak

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A Southern editor charged Friday the Roman Catholic clergy plans to destroy separation of church and state and will "persecute us in America if she gains mastery of the government."

E. S. James, editor of the Baptist Standard at Dallas, Texas, said in a speech prepared for the Southern Baptist Convention the Catholic hierarchy "already has pretty well taken control" of the nation's communications field.

"Peace intends to control American education," he said.

The Baptist editor, recalling many Baptists opposed the election of President Kennedy, said many now are backing him openly and should. "His courage in opposing the hierarchy on separation of church and state is amazingly encouraging," James said.

The 9.7 million member convention wound up a four-day meeting Friday with more than 12,300 messengers (delegates) registered from all 50 states and several foreign countries.

FINALLY GETS CHECK

BURGESS HILL, England (AP) —Roberta Bolling, 63, who survived the sinking of the Titanic nearly 50 years ago, finally got a check Friday in compensation for losses and sufferings she endured that night. The check from trustees administering the compensation fund, was for $250. Mrs. Bolling, who has been bedridden with arthritis for 11 years, said: "It's not much use to me now," and invested it in government bonds.

Voice Of Broadway

By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

Jottings in Pencil

Ann Bancroft, yearning to try her talents in a musical comedy, may have her wish fulfilled in the near future. She's a strong contender for the feminine lead in "Blue Star," the forthcoming Broadway musical with an Israel setting . . . Gerry Mulligan, whose "concert band" is packing Birdland with hipsters, gave out with some bluesy news at the jazz club last night. Gerry disclosed that he'll break up the big orchestra in mid - July, and devote most of his time to writing. There aren't enough cafes around the nation that can afford to pay the price for his "concert" crew.

Hulan Jack, the much - headlined former Borough President of Manhattan, is getting ready to take on a new job here . . . Margaret O'Brien, who'd like to live down her public image as a sweet child star, will try to establish herself in a sexy role this Summer. She'll play the wayward heroine of "Under The Yum Yum Tree" in stock . . . New Yorker Cy Roth has discovered Marie Marie McDonald . . . Oh, say it isn't so! There's a rumor along Tin Pan Alley that Frank DeVol, who gave Jaye P. Morgan her name, is ready to unveil a singer whom he calls Andra Carnegie. Cosmetics tycoon Charles Revson is seen around town with a variety of belles, but pals think his favorite is Lynne Sheresky, a Park Ave. divorcee.

A place in Harlem called Rainbow Gardens is drawing visits from top - ranking band agents. They're flocking to see Danny Small's combo touted as the next "sleeper" in the music industry . . . Carlotta O'Neill, widow of Eugene O'Neill, was the most striking lunch - time figure at Quo Vadis the other day. Austere and mysterious - looking, she was dressed entirely in black and wore dark glasses . . . Peggy Lee played Cupid for her secretary, Mary Bennet, during her last appearance at Basin Street East — Mary will become the bride of Mel Zelnick, who was Peggy's drummer during the engagement. Mary and Mel will fly to the West Coast to be married on June 4 at Peggy's house. Also being wed — same day, same place — will be Mary's brother, Max, who is Peggy's bass player. (Are you still with us?)

Gary Cooper's picture, "Love in the Afternoon," in which he co-starred with Audry Hepburn and Maurice Chevalier, will be reissued under the title of "Fascination" . . . Jackie Wilson got his recording career rolling again, when he cut six sides for Brunswick in his first song session since he was hospitalized last February. Among the numbers he waxed was a tune titled "I'm A-Coming 'On Back To You," composed by Al Kasha, who wrote Jackie's two - million - seller, "My Empty Arms."

Robert Rossen describes his production of "The Hustler" as "neo - neo - realistic," saying, "It certainly doesn't offer the pretty side of life. These are real people, and I'd put up a very tough fight if anyone wanted to sweeten the story" . . . Ginger Rogers is reportedly getting $7,500 a week in Summer stock this July and August. Bridegroom Bill Marshall will share star billing—but not the dazzling salary.

Patrice Munsel's wild can can in "Merry Widow Waltz" at the Los Angeles Philharmonic has the whole town talking about the prima donna's verve — and her panties . . . Customers at William Abel's Madison Ave. tailoring emporium were doing triple-takes the other day while Gary Grant sat at the reception desk reminiscing with Abel, a pal of earlier days. The most exciting moment came when he tried on a new checked vest while eyes popped.

A Palace Theatre engagement is being talked of for Gordon and Sheila MacRae . . . Olivia de Havilland now spends quite a bit of time standing on her head. She's become a devotee of Yoga . . . This ought to shake up the film industry: Salvador Dali has agreed to play a role in a French film called "The Fourth Sex," which deals with the life of George Sand. And Dali has promised producer Alfonso Gemino that he'll persuade Francoise Sagan to appear in at least one scene with him.

Ray Anthony has a new "Bookend" for his Las Vegas appearance, Diane Hill, with whom he was linked romantically last year, didn't make the trip. She was replaced by a lovely Georgia peach Carol Lee . . . Alexander Federoff, who wrote the novel "The Side of the Angels," had exactly 20 cents in his pockets when his agency sent him the fat check covering the movie sale of the book . . . If terms can be arranged, it looks like Peter Glenville to direct the musical version of "I Can Get It For You Wholesale," adapted by author Jerome Weidman with a score by Harold Rome.

Hefty pronunciation from Red Skelton: "You've no idea how many stars drank themselves into oblivion at night simply because their intelligence doesn't match their public stature — and they're constantly aware of it. I consider it impossible for someone to be a good actor unless he's intelligent, too. A movie star, maybe, but not a good actor."

How To Keep Well

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

KEEP CUTS CLEAN

A simple cut or laceration should be washed thoroughly with soap and water and covered with a sterile dressing. This applies to ordinary wounds encountered in the kitchen, basement, garage, or workshop. They heal rapidly when kept clean and are not irritated with strong anti-septics.

Infections usually stem from bacteria in the air or from contact with the object that caused the injury. The skin harbors bacteria that may be difficult to eradicate. Washing still is the best preventive because it cleanses without damaging the raw and tender tissue. Dirty lesions must be scrubbed a little harder; never be afraid to use a soapy washrag when necessary.

Sterile bandages are available at all drug stores. They should be changed when dirty, wet, or soaked with blood. Bacteria thrive on fresh or dried blood and these that settle on the out-side of a stained bandage will work their way through to the skin and infect the wound.

There is no need to change a dry dressing that is covering a clean wound. In the past it was common to return to the physician's office to have the bandage changed. We know that every time a dressing is removed, the chances of infecting the cut increase, especially when everyone breathes on it while taking a close look to see how it is doing. A clean and properly covered laceration should be left alone until healing occurs.

Shots against lockjaw (tetanus) are necessary when an accident occurs out of doors, especially on sidewalks or in streets, alleys, playgrounds, farm yards, and public places. The need for protection obviously is greater in wounds of this type.

ELUSIVE VEINS

L. S. wrote: "Would you please tell me how to find a vein for intravenous feeding in some persons?"

Reply

Because in some individuals they are hidden by too much fat. In others, the veins are elusive and jump aside when jabbed, especially by a dull needle. But this is only half the story. The physician may not be skilled in this procedure and tends to blame the vein or the needle instead of himself.

BATHING AFTER EXERCISE

N. D. writes: Is it bad to take a shower soon after ironing a large bundle of clothing?

Reply

No, and it may be just the thing to do if you perspire profusely. Some women fail to realize that a shower is needed after heavy housework to avoid B.O.

ULCER DIET

C. S. writes: Can the peptic ulcer diet be used for duodenal ulcer?

Reply

Yes. Nine out of 10 peptic ulcers are in the duodenum; the remainder are in the stomach (gastric ulcers). Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on peptic ulcer.

BLOODSHOT EYES

R. H. writes: What causes the whites of the eyes to redden?

Reply

Congestion, resulting from inflammation, irritation, or allergy. When a vessel ruptures the white becomes blood red. In some instances, over-indulgence in alcohol, late hours, or dissipation in general is responsible.

Senate Approves Bob Hope Medal

WASHINGTON (AP) — A resolution to award a gold medal to comedian Bob Hope "in recognition of his services to the country and to the cause of world peace" was passed by unanimous voice vote in the Senate Friday. It now goes to the House.

Sponsors of the Senate resolution members joined in introducing the resolution. The other four said they have fixed policies not to co-sponsor legislation.

The resolution praises Hope for his "keen and imaginative support to humanitarian causes of every description," and his movie-shrewd records of telephone soldier visits to far-flung outposts made by Hope and other top stars to entertain members of the armed forces.

The government confiscated the records were destroyed to hide them from investigators for the Senate rackets committee looking into Hoffa's activities.

Woman Accused Of Aiding Hoffa Gets Sentence

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sally T. Hacks, convicted of obstructing a Senate committee investigating Teamsters Union officials, was sentenced Friday to a prison term of 20 months to five years.

She was jailed briefly but then was released on $5,000 bond pending appeal. Her attorney, Benjamin Fitzgerald, said the bond was raised by attorneys who represent themselves in the case.

Judge Edward A. Tamm, in imposing the sentence, denied Mrs. Hacks' request that she be permitted to appeal without posting the bond as a pauper. But the sum was reduced when the appeal was filed by her attorney later.

Mrs. Hacks, a former telephone operator at the hotel where Teamsters President James R. Hoffa often stayed, was convicted April 13 on nine of 10 counts. The indictment charged she passed hotel records of telephone calls to Hoffa and other top brass to entertain members Teamsters officials.

Louisiana Personal Income Increases

NEW YORK (AP) — A national magazine reported Friday that personal income in Louisiana during March totaled $4,400,000, an increase of 1.6 per cent over the same month last year.

The survey by Business Week also showed total personal income in Louisiana during the first quarter of 1961 was $1,370,000,000, also an increase of 1.6 per cent over the same period of 1960.

GOP Assails Tractors-Captives Trade

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans assailed the Cuban tractors-for-prisoners campaign Friday, calling it "another blow at our fast-diminishing world leadership."

But a sponsor said the drive to buy freedom for 1,200 Cuban rebels with 500 tractors will show the world "we place great value on the dignity and worth of human lives." He said U.S. involvement in the disastrous Cuban invasion effort leaves the nation with an obligation to the prisoners. And he added "Castro can only lose" if Americans free the captives.

Congressional Republicans went on record in condemnation of what they called a "movement for the American people to make blackmail payments to Fidel Castro," the Cuban prime minister.

Individual Republicans — especially Sen. Homer E. Capehart of Indiana — repeatedly have attacked the privately organized move to raise about $15 million to buy the 500 tractors demanded by Castro for the release of the rebels taken when he crushed last month's abortive invasion. But Friday's statement by Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the Senate Republican leader, was the first official party assault on the project.

The fund drive is being directed by a committee which has as co-chairmen Democrat Walter P. Reuther, head of the United Auto Workers, and Republican Milton Eisenhower, president of Johns Hopkins University and brother of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower. Eleanor Roosevelt is honorary chairman.

The U.S. government has an official hands-off attitude toward the fund campaign. But President Kennedy has disclosed he gave advance blessing to the project and encouraged the Reuther-Eisenhower-Roosevelt group to take charge of it. And he called on Americans to contribute.

In addition, it has been indicated that sponsors would not be subject to prosecution under the Logan Act which forbids individuals to negotiate with foreign governments; that export licenses would be granted for the farm machines, despite the current ban on such commercial shipments to Cuba, and that contributions to the fund would be exempt from income tax as charitable spending.

All these moves have stirred debate in Congress where resolutions condemning the campaign are pending in both houses. The tax-exemption proposal, in particular, is expected to come under close congressional scrutiny.

The Dirksen statement asked what has become of the historic U.S. position of "millions for defense but not one cent for tribute" and inquired also:

"What new humiliation will this encourage the Communists to visit upon us?"

It concluded: "Paying tribute to tyrants is old as history but it has never advanced the cause of freedom before and it won't this time."

Speaking at a news conference in Philadelphia, Reuther said those opposing the trade misunderstood what is involved. He said if Castro's offer is rejected then the Communist-leaning dictator can claim dollars are more important than human considerations to this nation.

"We will show the world," Reuther said, "this is not so. We can't escape the fact that we were toward them. We must show the indirectly involved in getting world we place great value on the those men into their predicament, dignity and worth of human be- Thus we have a moral obligation ings."

Top Running Giants Down Chicago Again

Two Unearned Runs In 13th Net 3-2 Win

CHICAGO (AP) — The league leading San Francisco Giants, defeating the Chicago Cubs for the sixth straight time, scored two unearned runs in the 13th inning and downed the Cubs 3-2 Friday.

Two errors—a fumble by third baseman Ron Santo and a wild throw by outfielder Billy Williams—led to the Giants' final two runs. Harvey Kuenn, whose eighth inning single produced the tying run, singled for the lead run singled for the lead run before Felipe Alou scored on Williams' wide throw past the plate.

Sam Jones, fourth of five San Francisco pitchers, was the winner as Don Elston took the loss—his fourth against five wins.

Eddie Fisher closed out the 3 hour 40 minute marathon by getting Al Heist on a long fly to Felipe Alou after the Cubs picked up their second run while chasing Jones in the 13th.

The Cubs scored first in the seventh as Ernie Banks and George Altman got to starter Juan Marichal for successive doubles with two out. Banks' hit, his second of the game, was a windblown blast to right that Felipe Alou could not reach. Altman then followed with a line drive to right center, scoring Banks.

The Giants tied it up in the eighth and chased Don Cardwell. With one out, Matty Alou batted for Marichal and singled. He rode to third on brother Felipe's single.

Kuenn made it three straight hits for San Francisco, singling to score Matty Alou for the 1-1 standoff. Elston replaced Cardwell, and ended the inning by retiring Willie Mays and Willie McCovey.

Washington Nips Twins In 6th, 4-3

WASHINGTON (AP) — Harry Bright's bases loaded single in the sixth inning drove home the tying and winning runs Friday night as the new Washington Senators took a 4-3 victory over the old ones, now the Minneapolis Twins.

It was the first meeting in Griffith Stadium for the fledgling Senators and the team which left Washington for Minneapolis-St. Paul. A good portion of the 14,053 fans booed their former heroes throughout the game.

Bright's two-run liner to right center enabled rookie right-hander Joe McClain to gain his fifth victory in eight decisions. It also evened the Senate even in their head-to-head match with the Twins, who had won two of their three meetings in Minnesota.

McClain gave up hits, struck out 4 and walked 2.

Jim Kaat, who pitched all the way for the Twins in losing his fourth game against one victory, surrendered eight safeties, including three by Willie Tasby, now on a 10-straight-game hitting binge.

The Twins took a 2-0 lead in the third on Kaat's double, Lenny Green's single and a wild pitch which enabled Green, now hitting safely in 23 straight games, to score from second.

PIRATE INFIELD COLLAPSES

Red Birds Rise Up And Pummel Pittsburgh 12-2

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Ken Boyer smashed two homers and drove in six runs while the Pittsburgh infield collapsed with six errors in the St. Louis Cardinals' 12-2 rout.

The big third baseman crashed out of a slump in which he went the Redbirds matched their best 15 games without batting in a run, run-scoring game. That one came His homers were his sixth and against the San Francisco Giants seventh. He also had a single as Tuesday.

Boyer got the Cards off to a lead they never lost when he homered to the right field pavilion roof in the first inning with Curt Flood and Bill White on base with singles. Flood walked to make Boyer's homer in the sixth a two-run job.

In between, the Pirates looked little like world champions.

The Cards scored seven runs—one in the second inning and three in the third and fourth. Five were unearned.

Subs Named For Canada Cup Tilt

NEW YORK (AP) — Jimmy Demaret will replace U.S. Open champion Arnold Palmer in the Canada Cup international golf matches in Puerto Rico next week, Frank Pace Jr., president of the international Golf Association announced Friday night.

Al Johnston of Quebec will substitute for Canada's Stan Leonard. No replacement has yet been secured for South Africa's Gary Player, who also is unable to play.

Palmer, Player and Leonard all advised Pace Friday night that they were unable to play in the international events because of Professional Golfers Association regulations. They previously had accepted invitations but could not obtain releases from the Memphis Open, also scheduled June 14.

Under PGA rules certain players, including champions and top money winners, are barred from taking part in non-sponsored tournaments at the same time as PGA co-sponsored events are being held unless they are released.

Palmer, Player and Leonard all had sought releases from the PGA and the Memphis sponsors but had been refused.

Pace said he was attempting to contact South Africa's Harold Henning, now playing in England, or Bobby Locke as a replacement for Player.

The 50-year-old Demaret, three-times winner of the Masters championship, will play as partner of another veteran, Sam Snead, as the U. S. team in the two-man Canada Cup competition.

Sports Holding Workout Today At OPHS Field

The Twin City Sports, combining the talents of baseball stars from Monroe and West Monroe for this year's La-Ark League scramble, will hold a workout at 3 p.m. today at the Ouachita Parish High School diamond.

The Sports, with players from both sides of the River, should give the Twin Cities a stronger punch than last year when both Monroe and West Monroe fielded teams.

Season tickets for the La-Ark League action will go on sale today and may be obtained by contacting Vivian Pettit or L. E. Frith. The phone numbers are FA 5-6526 and FA 5-5546. All home games will be played on Saturday night.

The Sports will play their opening game June 3rd here against Ruston, last year's La-Ark League champion.

Angels Pop Detroit Tigs By 5-4 Count

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An eighth inning double by Earl Averill brought in the winning run Friday night as the Los Angeles Angels knocked off the league-leading Detroit Tigers 5-4.

Right-hander Frank Lary, who leads the majors in victories with seven, suffered his second loss although he allowed only two earned runs.

Reliever Ryne Duren, who replaced Angel starter Ron Kline in the seventh, shut out the Tigers the last 1⅔ innings and picked up his first win in four decisions.

Rocky Colavito hit the game's only home run. It was the Detroit outfielder's 12th this season. It tied him for the American League with Jim Gentile of Baltimore.

Palmer Has Lead Halfway Through 500 Festival

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — U. S. Open champion Arnold Palmer cooked a one-under par 70 on a "charcoal-broiled" Speedway golf course Friday and held the undisputed halfway lead in the $50,000 "500 Festival" tourney by one stroke.

Palmer's round of 35-35 included one birdie scored on a 60-foot putt on the 328-yard 12th hole. His 70 gave him a 137 total for the 36 holes.

A 25-mile an hour North wind in 45-degree weather made conditions so miserable that charcoal burners and several dozen blankets were dispatched to helpers on the outpost scoreboards.

Palmer, who blew a three-foot birdie putt on the 18th green, shook off the pair who had tied him at 67 for the lead in Thursday's first round. But defending champion Doug Ford picked up a stroke on Palmer with his second successive 69 to grab the runner-up spot with 138.

Jim Ferree and Johnny Pott who shared the first round lead with Palmer were among the many in the 155-man field whose play was numbed and buffeted by the rigorous weather.

Ferree ballooned to a 76 and Pott took a 72, setting for halfway scores of 143 and 139, respectively.

Pott remained two strokes off the pace with Australia's Peter Thomson and Mason Rudolph in the chase for the top prize of $9,000. Rudolph fashioned a 69 and Thomson had a 71 for their 139 totals.

GET BEST PLAYER, COACHING LAURELS

Neville Grabs Top Spots On All-AA Diamond Club

By RICK BRYAN
World Sports Editor
Written For The La. Sports Writer's Assn.

To the victors go the spoils and to Neville High, state champions of AA baseball, went the biggest prize on the Louisiana Sports Writer's All-State squad - the individual honors.

The Tigers took both outstanding player and coach of the year laurels, in addition to naming three on the 17-man Double-A dreamteam.

Runners - up Redemptorist of Baton Rouge and Menard of Alexandria, however edged Neville in number of berths by placing four apiece on the squad that included five pitchers, three catchers and two all - round utility men.

Abbeville got two, while Denham Springs, Cathedral of Lafayette, Jesuit of Shreveport and Minden had one apiece. There was no second team.

Tiger mentor Charley Brown was tabbed Coach of the Year for guiding the Bengals to their second title in four years, and Neal Gunn, the valiant pitcher who made it possible, was a hands - down choice for outstanding player.

Also named from Neville were slugging catcher Eddie Kincaid and freshman shortstop Joe Canal.

Menard and Redemptorist both added a pitcher and catcher to give the team a trio of battery combinations -- the Eagles placing pitcher Bobby Merritt and Wolves' leading slinger Harvey Hollier and signal-caller Ronnie Rousseau.

Other Menard selections were first baseman Don Bonol and outfielder Ernie Knoblock, while Redemptorist contributed utility men Randy Babin and Jim Edwards.

Rounding out the squad were pitchers, Cliff Hebert of Abbeville and Les O'Neal of Denham Springs, outfielders Bobby Gooch from Abbeville and Minden's David Lee, second baseman Tom LeBlanc of Cathedral and Jesuit third baseman, James (Bucky) Bocenzi.

GREAT IN CLUTCH

Gunn, a 5'11 senior with a 10-2 season record, played outfield when he wasn't on the hill and was perfection when the chips were down. He won all six Tiger playoff games.

Perhaps his greatest triumph was pitching 15 innings in the last two semifinals against Menard for two wins in one day. Gunn had never beaten Menard before, having lost to them in playoffs the two previous years, and Boissert homered to beat him in their first meeting this season. To cap the frustration, Boisvert's only other homer in high school play at that time was also off Gunn and it too had won a playoff game for the Eagles.

Merritt, though playing his first year at Menard, was largely responsible for their return to the playoffs. Overall his record was 9-3, but he was 3-1 going into the three game series with Neville. Merritt wound-up with a 1.12 ERA and pitched 43 1-3 consecutive scoreless innings.

Redemptorist's Hollier won 11 while dropping three to help his team reach the finals in their first year in AA.

Hollier, who made the Class A squad a season ago, pitched 93 innings and gave up only 11 earned runs while fanning 93 and walking a mere 17.

Abbeville credits the work of two boys for its 16-5 skien and semi-final berth alongside Redemptorist. One of them was pitcher Hebert, who racked up a 7-0 record, had a 2.6 ERA and was an outfielder when he didn't pitch.

The fifth member of the barling corps was senior O'Neal who got Denham Springs' three wins this year against a single loss. O'Neal, a four - year letterman tossed a no-hitter and two low-hit jobs for the trick.

DEPTH BEHIND PLATE

This year's AA baseball was so deep in top catchers that the selectors were forced to put three on this squad.

Kincaid made a fit partner to catch the super - pitching of Gunn. The 5'5" junior hit .333, slammed two homers and was steal-proof. He demonstrated this by throwing out two in the three-game series with Redemptorist. But perhaps his greatest strength was the tameness of his pitchers. He drove a catch and scored twice in the doubleheader with Menard.

Boisvert, a 190-pound senior hit .316, and led his team in RBI's. He is an All-State repeater and made the AA first-team in football.

Redemptorist's Rousseau, had 20 RBI's and hit at a .330 clip.

First baseman Bonjol is probably the top defensive man in AA play. His slick fielding and throwing held Menard's infield together, but the 6'0 senior also led the Eagles in runs and stolen bases while batting .270.

Secondbase laurels went to Cathedral's LeBlanc, who led the club in RBI's, triples and doubles, hit .350 and was voted his team's most valuable player.

Neville's shortstop Canal, though only a freshman, slugged at a .310 pace, while playing most of the year with a pole vaulting injury.

On third is Bocenzi of Jesuit a .302 hitter, who batted clean-up and drove in 20 RBI's.

DISPLAY VERSATILITY

In naming the two utility men, the sports writers emphasized that they were not substitutes, but were picked for their ability to play several positions. Edwards, for example, could play second or short with the best and was Redemptorist's number two pitcher. He hit a sparkling .450, led the club in RBI's and compiled a 7-3 mound record.

Babin batted .245 committed no throwing errors and did a bang-up fielding job at third, though he can and has played the other infield slots equally well.

A mass of power is collected in the three All-State outfielders. Menard's Knoblock swatted .500 he gained while driving underpowered equipment.

The Bill MacDonald Offenhauser which he has entered at Shreveport is one of the fastest dirt track cars in the nation with an engine that produces more horsepower than those used at the Indianapolis speedway.

On four occasions during last year's campaign of the dirt track this car set fastest time trial. While it was not driven by Richert previous to this year the young Gopher Stater has already worked his way into third place in national point standings.

Richert ca ntake over the lead by defeating champion Pete Folse of Tampa at the Shreveport events. Folse will be driving the Honore offy in the Gulf States. With this car he has racked up three straight winning features in Shreveport and has won three out of the last four races in which he has competed.

Race time Sunday for the seven event program has been set up to 2 p.m. with time trials and warm-ups one hour earlier.

There is a good selection of tickets for the covered reserved grandstand still available at Harbuck's Sporting Goods store in Shreveport. Mail orders are accepted when accompanied by check or money order.

JERRY RICHERT

Richert Joins Sunday's GSC Racing Field

SHREVEPORT, La., (Special) —Auto race officials in charge of the Gulf State Championship races to be held this Sunday afternoon, May 28, at the Louisiana State Fair speedway in Shreveport, were delighted today when they received the entry of Jerry Richert of Forest Lake, Minn.

Richert is a brilliant young driver whose performance in the Bill MacDonald Offenhauser during the midwinter speed contests at the Florida State Fair set the experts to talking of him as a coming champion of the speed sport.

Richert is a two-time winner of the highly contested Minnesota State championship, an honor that and was one of their top RBI men. Gooch was responsible for much of Abbeville's success. He hit .370, got 27 RBI's and hit, five homeruns, while Lee led Minden in RBI's and hit .235.

Gray, Hobgood Named To All-State Track Squad

Two Twin - Cities athletes were selected on the 1961 all-state track and field team picked by the Louisiana Sports Writer's Association.

Cortland Gray, the Neville flash who ran a dual with Ruston's Alvin Carpenter all season made the squad in two positions — the 120 and 180 yard hurdles — while West Monroe's Paul Hobgood earned himself a berth for pole vaulting.

Both Gray and Carpenter were two-place men and were cited for their identical 120-yard high hurdle times of 14.5, which topped the team's listing. Gray beat out Carpenter in the 180-hurdles with a 19.5. Carpenter's mark in the State meet was 19.5.

Hobgood's pole vault standard was 12'10", and he tied for first in the State meet at Lake Charles.

TRIPLE WINNERS

Frances Thomas and Russell Schouest at state Triple A champion Lafayette are the "unsung heroes" of the gigantic, 74-man all-class team.

Although few track and field fans will recognize their names, Thomas and Schouest are the only All - Staters to win positions in three events. A total of 17 thinclads earned recognition in two events with the remaining 5+ limited to single mention.

Thomas and Schouest were members of all three Lost relay teams in the State AAA meet at Lake Charles May 13. Their clocking of 43.3 in the 440, 1:29.7 in two events in the relay and 3:25.4 in the mile relay [illegible] A [illegible] on the 6' standard.

Although the [illegible] All - Staters is a record, the standards for the 31st team were tougher than they have ever been before. An example: of the 17 All-State performances in the 100, 220, 400 and 880 last year, only four would qualify for the 1961 team.

The best performances of 1961 were better than 700 in 12 events and the same in two more. The minimum requirements for All-State recognition were [illegible] 12 events and [illegible] In four events [illegible] in 700 world's [illegible] 61 squad.

As usual in pre-[illegible] [illegible] ride the back of the team. Of the 74 All - Staters, 46 represent the highest classification. There are 12 double - A Staters, 31 from Class A, four from Class B and one from Class C.

Score To Minors

NEW YORK (AP)—Left-hander Herb Score, only rarely effective since he was hit in the eye by a line drive in 1957, Friday night was optioned by the Chicago White Sox to San Diego of the Pacific Coast League.

"We want Herb to go out and work his way back to us," said Chicago Manager Al Lopez of the 28-year-old southpaw who has won only 13 games since he was struck in the right eye by a line drive hit by Gil McDougald of the New York Yankees four years ago.

'Around The Clock' Theme Of Oak Ridge Bridal Party

"Around the Clock" was the theme used by Mrs. Clarke Williams, Mrs. W. P. Smith, and Mrs. Gerald Thompson when they entertained with a seated tea in the Williams home in Oak Ridge on Saturday. Named as honoree was Miss Virginia Sue Shepard, popular bride - elect of J. S. Barr III. The wedding will be solemnized on June 14 in the Oak Ridge Methodist Church. Miss Shepard is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Shepard and the prospective groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Barr Jr., all of Oak Ridge.

Invitations in the form of a clock were mailed, with each having a different hour listed on the face. This signified that the hostesses were having a shower for the honoree and the guests were to bring a gift suitable for the hour listed on their invitation and give advice for use of their gift.

This theme was carried out in the decorations of the home, with the center of interest being an old fashioned corn sheller lacquered in white with gold numerals and gold hands pointing to 3 p.m., the hour of the party, and surrounded by ivy and magnolias. Gifts were placed in the corn sheller.

In the living room was a basket of red gladioli, placed on the secretary. An arrangement of dahlias and one of sweet peas were placed in the bedrooms.

In the dining room, white dahlias, white Easter lilies and yellow gladioli were arranged on the side board. The polished mahogany table was centered with a Maypole topped with a dainty nosegay of white daisies. Yellow and white satin streamers extended to miniature clocks with miniature nosegays placed between these to form a circle. Mrs. E. A. Barham, aunt of the honoree, served lime frappe from the antique cut glass punch bowl. Cut glass trays held petit-fours frosted in white and decorated with clock dials, and patty shells filled with chicken salad. Tall compotes held cheese straws and roquefort pecans.

Miss Shepard was wearing one of her trousseau models of green and multi - colored print with white accessories. The hostesses presented her with a corsage fashioned of a styrofoam clock with dial of white mums, net and ribbons.

Attending other than the hostesses and honoree were her mother, Mrs. C. E. Shepard; her grandmother, Mrs. H. J. Norris; groom - elect's grandmother, Mrs. J. W. Brodnax; groom-elect's mother, Mrs. J. S. Barr; Mrs. E. A. Barham, Mrs. Earl Hogan, Mrs. Mack Kennedy, Mrs. R. E. Barham Jr.; Mrs. Jack Carey, Miss Marcia Files, Mrs. Weldon Fitch, Mrs. S. L. Parks Jr., Mrs. H. A. Pipes Jr., Mrs. J. A. Brown, Miss Nancy Lillian Files, Miss Diana Smith, Mrs. W. M. Rolfe, Mrs. Sam P. Williams, Mrs. Abner Wimberly and Mrs. G. L. Shepard of West Monroe.

Sending gifts were Mrs. Joe Mott Jr., Mrs. King Mott, Mrs. B. L. Wade, Mrs. W. A. Shaw, Mrs. Edwards Barham, Miss Lillian Fitch, Mrs. James McLendon of Sterlington, Miss Helen Hester Burnside of Newellton, Mrs. Les Thames and Miss Diane Thames of Baton Rouge.

Prenuptial Courtesies Continue For Tallulah Bride-Elect, Miss Loe

Among the many parties honoring Miss Barbara Loe, the future bride of Jerry Arrington, was a pink tea at the home of Mrs. Roy Counts on Saturday afternoon, May 20.

Mrs. Counts welcomed the guests at the door and they then greeted the guest of honor, who wore an embroidered pink sheath complemented with a corsage of pink flowers, and her mother, Mrs. Ralph Loe, her grandmother, Mrs. R. W. Gandy presided at the bride's book.

Pink hydrangeas adorned the entrance and reception room. In the dining room the table, covered with a lace cloth, was centered with an all - pink colonial arrangement of roses, snapdragons and Queen Anne's lace, flanked by silver candelabra holding pink candles. On the buffet was a large bouquet of pink hydrangeas between pink candles. The refreshments also carried out the color theme.

Alternating at the punch service were Mrs. R. S. Gayle, Mrs. G. T. Shepherd and Mrs. Lloyd Gilbert. Assisting in hostess duties were Mrs. John Carpenter, Mrs. M. C. Oxen, Mrs. Jim Parker, Mrs. Harry Barrett, Mrs. W. W. Zeigler, Mrs. George M. Webb, Mrs. R. G. Long and Mrs. W. E. Regenold, each wearing a corsage of sweetheart roses.

Miss Norris Complimented With Party In Farmerville

The home of Mrs. Palmer Dean in Farmerville was the setting for a miscellaneous shower on Saturday afternoon, May 20, complimenting Miss Judith Holland Norris of West Monroe, whose marriage to Stanley Doyle McEachara Jr., will be an event of June 10 at Highland Baptist Church, West Monroe. Co - hostesses were Mrs. Charles Giddens, Mrs. James Brantley, Mrs. Arthur Washam and Mrs. Draughon Smith, all wearing white carnation corsages.

Mrs. Dean greeted the guests at the door. Receiving with the hostesses and honor guest were the latter's mother, Mrs. J. M. Norris of West Monroe; and the prospective bridegroom's mother, Mrs. S. D. McEacharn of Delhi.

The honoree chose to wear a model of Dior blue cotton, fashioned with embroidered tunic, accented by a corsage of white carnations, a gift of the hostesses. She wore matching blue slippers.

A bridal doll surrounded by bisque cupids on a tiered table was in the entrance hall. Miss Nancy Lee presided at the guest book, which was placed on a table with a large white candle encircled with sweetheart rose buds. Magnolia blossoms and Madonna lilies adorned the mantle in the living room and reflected in the gold - leafed mirror in the background.

In the dining room a color theme of pink and white was noted in the appointments. The refreshment table was overlaid with a white organdy floor length ruffled cloth with lace inserts. An arrangement of Queen Elizabeth roses and pastel sweetpeas in a silver epergne was the centerpiece. Mrs. Stein Baughman Jr., ladled pink punch from a large crystal bowl. Individual cakes embossed with tiny pink rose - buds were in silver trays, with white and pink wedding mints and salted nuts in a tiered silver compote placed along the table. Slender white tapers in crystal candelabra glowed on the buffet. Miss La Jo Hayes and Miss Sharron Brantley served as tea girls.

Gifts were displayed on a lace table covered in white with pink ribbon streamers caught at intervals with white crystalized wedding bells and valley lilies. Pink satin hearts with small bisque cupids attached enhanced the wall near the tables.

A large number of guests called during the appointed hours of 3 and 5 o'clock. There were several from El Dorado and West Monroe.

DeMoss Home Scene Of Recital

The home of Mrs. Robert L. DeMoss on Bienville Street was the scene of a piano recital by her pupils on Thursday night, May 25.

Performing on the program were: Susan Head, Barbara Black, Beth Carter, Marsha Buddine, Donna Lee Spargo, and Cindy Liner.

OPHS Choir Honored At Party

The O. Willis home on College Boulevard was the scene of an informal dinner party given for the O. P. H. S. Choir on Friday night May 19, at 7 o'clock. The party was in celebration of the recent victories the Choir had won at state festival. Mr. and Mrs. Willis and daughter, Judy, a member of the choir, were hosts for the occasion.

Guests were seated on the patio overlooking Bayou DeSiard. A [illegible] of Red roses were in the center of the tables. Patio lights were placed around the spacious lawn and bayou area, added to the festive occasion.

The Choir took this time to present their director, Mrs. Lloydelle Thomas, a gold charm piana.

After dinner, entertainment was furnished by the Balladeers, all members of the choir.

Those attending other than the [illegible] were Mrs. Lloydelle Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Strickland, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Bamhacker, and Mr. and Mrs. T. Tyler.

Small Child Suffers After New Baby Comes

YOUR BABY AND MINE

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

The child from two to four suffers most from the advent of a new baby in the family. He is unable to understand all the implications of the event and he is of an age to be very close to his mother. When the new baby usurps her attention and all the relatives and friends go into ecstasies over him he feels like an outcast, alone and forgotten.

There are ways to minimize this punishing experience. They are designed to confirm his parents' love for him and to make him a partner in welcoming the newcomer.

LAST TWO MONTHS

During the last two months of pregnancy is time enough to tell the child of its coming. It depends upon his age and understanding how much more needs to be told than just, "We are going to have a little brother or sister for you, soon."

If he is curious or asks where they are going to get the baby, this is a fine time to begin to help him understand the miracle of birth. But chiefly he should get a sense of possession toward the new baby. "My brother, or My sister"—this puts the whole thing in proper focus.

When the baby comes home the parents should be sensitive enough to the older child's needs to bring him into the limelight. He sees that they are loving and protective toward the baby and that he should be loving and protective toward him.

He helps Mother with the baby, watches her bathe, feed and put him to bed. He is made to understand that at his age this is exactly what she did for him.

Visitors do not mean to be rude, but their questions often [illegible] ask the child of How's the baby doing at night? These [illegible] They seem to expect the [illegible] of jealousy in his eye and if they treat him as a bystander and not a participant in this family celebration — the glint will be there.

A BABY AGAIN

This is a time when baby habits reassert themselves. The child wants to be a baby again — for look what it gets the baby! He also yearns for an existence that came before this one—which he finds not to his liking. So getting, wanting to be fed, drinking from a [illegible] to express these desires and feelings.

Be forewarned of such behavior. Realize that it seems fun to act like a baby, but really is much more fun to be a big boy or girl and do all the things possible to a child his age. With humor, understanding, and compassion for the experience the child is meeting, there should be no lasting scars of jealousy to spoil his relationship with his brand new relative.

What parent doesn't panic when the subject of sex crops up? For expert advice on this delicate subject, send 10 cents and a stamped self-addressed envelope with your request for the booklet, "What, When and How To Tell Children About Sex." Address Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

Aids Drying

To keep the layers of a wash-wear garment from clinging together while drip-drying, first put a piece of plastic sheeting over the hanger. This helps the freshly-laundered apparel to dry faster and wrinkle free, and also prevents rust stain.

Senior Girls Honored At Two Parties

Miss Marie King Nelsen, a member of the graduating class at Neville High School, was complimented with a morning coffee on Monday, May 22, in the Columbia home of Mrs. Hartley Bridger. Mrs. Hill Durham was co-hostess.

Centering the dining table was a massive arrangement of magnolias. Placed on corner cabinets in the room were arrangements of lilies and Queen Anne's lace, and bouquets of gardenias. Pink and blue hydrangeas were used in the living room.

Among those sharing the occasion with the honoree were: Misses Eleanor Harmon, Mary Ladshaw, Lea Thompson, Betty Ann Inabnett, Diane McGee, and Harriet Murray, all of Monroe; and Misses Jorenda Reynolds, Rosalyn Walker, Kathy Serrett, and Kay Godfrey, of Columbia; Lee Roy Adams Jr., E. D. Coates Jr., Glenn Haddox, Mrs. O. N. Reynolds, Mrs. Leonard Rowland, Mrs. Eldridge Carroll, Mrs. Bridger, and Mrs. Durham, also of Columbia; Mrs. John King Sr., grandmother of the honoree, Mrs. Ralph King Jr., and Miss Terri Ann King, all of Winnsboro; and Mrs. Haakon Nelsen of Monroe, mother of the honoree.

Miss Nelsen and Miss Lea Thompson were honored with a dinner dance in the private dining room of Highland Park Country Club on Friday night. Miss [illegible] Hostess for the event was Mrs. Anthony Willett.

A large arrangement of magnolias centered the dining table. Among those invited to attend were Miss Nelsen, Alec Myers, Miss Thompson, Richard Olson, Miss Betty Ann Inabnet, Richard Greene, Miss Sandra Guyton, Don Kurtz, Miss Maidye Jean Strickland, Buddy Mestrachek, Miss Lynn Smith, Jim Guthrie, and Bill Stadler.

DEAR ABBY

Bride May Be Bride Regardless Of Relatives

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have a relative who was just about ready to give up when someone asked her to get married. She is 52 and he is 50. Please don't faint, but she is planning to be married in a white wedding gown with a veil, the bouquet, bridesmaids and everything that goes with it. She has gray hair and looks every bit her 52 years. I am afraid people in this town will think she has gone crazy. Don't you think someone in the family should step in and set her straight? —INTERESTED RELATIVE

DEAR INTERESTED: I see nothing wrong with the bride's plans. Someone should set her relatives straight.

DEAR ABBY: I am a high school senior and have never been in trouble before. I have been accused of stealing a purse. I did not steal it Abby. I found it on my way to school and there was no name or anything in it. I suppose I should have turned it in, so I took it to school and started to use it. I was called into the principal's office. It was stolen from one of the girls at school. A girl whose name they wouldn't tell me said she heard she left another girl I stole it and not to say anything. Now the whole school is against me. I swear I didn't steal that purse. How can an innocent person protect herself against gossip? — INNOCENT

DEAR INNOCENT: Quit trying to disprove guilt that does not exist. The word of the girl who claimed she heard you say you stole it should have been disregarded until she agreed to face you with the accusation. Forget it my dear. And others will.

DEAR ABBY: I was born in America but have been on ships all my life. I have never seen anything like the way the American women girdle theselves in and strap themselves up. It really gets me. I do not know who they think they are kidding with all those wires, elastic devices and contraptions to hold them in place. When they get home and take their girdles off, they spread out like a baseball filed—SHR WORLD TRAVELED BACHELOR

DEAR BACHELOR: How do "you" know?

Miss Smith Entertained In Tallulah

Richmond plantation, south of Tallulah, was the scene of a tea-shower on Saturday afternoon complimentary to Miss Charlyne Smith, whose marriage to Jimmy Wyche will be celebrated at her home in Vivian on June 11.

Hostesses were a group of her pupils, Cherry Moberley, Niki Jones, Janet Sturdivant, "Tinker" Yerger, Judy Kell, Dottee Bray, Diane Todd, Dianne Webb, Dixie Harvey, Jean Pippen, Ann Yerger and Sandy Anderson.

White lilies and gardenias were arranged in the reception rooms and gifts were displayed in the play room. Miss Jane Vernon Sevier had charge of the bride's book and Miss Pat Brooks presided at the punch service. There was a large attendance.

YOUR PROBLEMS

You're No Longer A Threat To His Freedom

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: When I was 18, I fell madly in love with a fellow at work. We went steady for three years. I'm a very demonstrative person and made no secret of the fact that I was nuts about him. All he could say was "he thought I was a good kid."

After three years of Nothingsville, I gave up and started to date another fellow who was older and more settled. This guy was very outspoken about his love for me and we were married within the year.

Here's the problem. My old flame wants me to have coffee with him every day. Since we work in the same department there's no avoiding him. I must confess a spark of the old feeling still exists—and I get a lot of satisfaction out of hearing him say sweet things he wouldn't say when we were going together.

Could it be now that I'm married he sees me in a different light? If so, why? —PUZZLEMENT

Dear Puzzlement: He sees you in a different light all right—and he likes this light much better because somebody else is paying the light bill.

Now that you are married and no longer a threat to his bachelorhood, he's relaxed and those sweet phrases come easy. Stop having coffee with this phony or you'll wind up with more trouble than you need.

Dear Ann Landers: My brother has been having a lot of trouble with his 17-year-old son. He has been arrested three times in the last 18 months.

Recently he got into something serious. Although he was able to prove he was not guilty of the charges, he was in the car with the boys who were.

His father has decided the boy is no good and that these toughs who get into serious trouble should not be allowed to use their youth as an excuse. He says they should be put in prison with criminals, if they act like criminals.

Do you think it would help solve the juvenile delinquency problem if the law got real tough with these kids? Please answer in the paper. —R. E. F.

Dear R. E. F.: Juveniles who break the law should be sent to detention homes and taught a trade while they are serving time. Locking up teenagers with hardened criminals only serves to teach them more tricks. Often they are worse when they get out than when they went in. Court records show that 88 per cent of the young offenders are back in jail within two years.

Better paid juvenile authorities and a strong rehabilitation program would be a step in the right direction. And we need funds to build more detention homes and to educate the personnel (yes and troubled and ignorant parents) on how to deal with young hoodlums.

Dear Ann: The man who called himself "Monkey's Uncle" startled me into unconsciousness. It's the first time I ever heard a man admit that keeping house is work.

My husband comes home and says, "What did you do all day?" When I say I did the wash (for seven people) he says—"You did it? You mean the machine, don't you?" I could strangle him.

He works in a manufacturing plant, and I know he works hard. If I ever suggested to him that the machines did "his" work he'd blow up.

I have often secretly wished that I'd break a leg on a Saturday or Sunday so he'd have to take over completely — just for one day. But that wouldn't work because he'd probably call my mother. —TIRED

SHAW PLANS RETURN

TEHRAN, Iran (UPI) — The government of Iran announced Friday that Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi would return to this capital city next Tuesday. The royal couple has been on a vacation in Norway following an official state visit.

Solon Terms Race Actions 'A Spectacle'

ALEXANDRIA (Special) — Congressman Harold B. McSween of Alexandria Friday called for arrest of the so-called "freedom riders" every time they violate a law in the South.

McSween also lashed federal protection of the racially mixed groups touring the South protesting segregated transportation facilities.

The Eighth District Congressman called the government's action, "A remarkable spectacle."

"It is a shame the government cannot understand the true motives of these people," McSween said. The issue of segregated transportation is minor compared to what is really involved here."

McSween said the position of the government in sending U.S. marshals into Alabama is "Less justified even than sending troops to Little Rock, Ark.

"At Little Rock you at least had a court order the government felt it was obligated to protect. In Alabama you have nothing but agitators asking for trouble and the federal government has no obligation whatsoever to protect these people."

McSween said both the "freedom riders" and the Nazi "hate riders" are "foolish and should be incarcerated every time they violate any law, which they have obviously done."

McSween said he did not defend instances of lack of law enforcement at the local level, but added, "I feel that these agitators should be jailed for purposely inciting riots."

He said that if the "freedom riders" come into Louisiana he will have more to say and that this could include a conference with top level officials in the Kennedy administration."

No-Strike Plan Announced For Missile Bases

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government came up Friday with a labor peace plan for missile and space bases and officials said they are sure it will work.

The plan involves a firm no-strike pledge from labor unions and a no-lockout pledge from manufacturers and contractors—along with a new Human Missile Sites Labor Commission designated to settle all disputes.

President Kennedy expressed confidence to Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg, who arranged the new peace plan, that it will enable fast and economical completion of the nation's multi-billion-dollar space projects.

The arrangement is all the more important since Kennedy has just asked Congress to chart an accelerated program for sending a man to the moon.

Ushers will be Mary Lou Briggs, Kay Freeman, Betty Nan Hines, Jane King, Virginia Kirkland, Ellis Ann McKinsey, Carol Ann Magnan, Charleen Miller and Julie Rees, all of whom are members of the Tech Blue Jackets.

Commencement exercises will be held at 10 a.m. Monday. The speaker will be Claude Kirkpatrick, director of the Louisiana Department of Public Works.

Winnsboro Asks Bids On Sewer Extension Lines

WINNSBORO (Special) — The Town of Winnsboro has advertised for bids for extension and improvement of sewer lines.

According to C. C. Nelson, water commissioner, new sewer lines will be extended to the sections of town on the Lone Cedar Road, Loop Road, Owen Addition, McDuff Addition and the section west and south of Havard St. This will include approximately 55,150 feet of extra strength vitrified clay sewer pipe with preformed plastic type joints in sizes ranging from 8 inches through 15 inches including manholes, appurtenances, and all miscellaneous work.

Contract documents, including plans and specifications, are on file in the office of the Winnsboro town clerk at the City Hall and at the office of Hemco Engineers, Consultants, 414 Fails Building, Memphis, Tenn.

The bids will be opened in the Winnsboro City Hall by Mayor Robert F. Mulhearn and the board of aldermen at 10 a.m., June 28.

Foster Infant Rites Set Today

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Foster died Friday afternoon at St. Frances Hospital here shortly after birth.

Graveside funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday at the Hasley Cemetery in West Monroe with the Rev. Earnest Lottin officiating. Funeral arrangements are under the direction of Hixson Brothers Funeral Home.

The only survivors are her parents.

Official Says Courts Strip Away Rights

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Atty. Gen. MacDonald Gallion of Alabama in a brief made public Friday said federal district courts seem to be trying to outdo the Supreme Court in stripping away states rights.

He is one of the state attorneys general who filed a brief with the three-judge federal court in New Orleans at request of the court in the school desegregation issue.

A copy of the brief was sent here to Atty. Gen. Jack Gremillion of Louisiana.

The three-judge court, headed by Judge John Minor Wisdom, has asked all 50 states to submit briefs in the St. Helena Parish school desegregation lawsuit.

Gremillion also urged state attorneys general to give their views on such questions as:

Would abandonment by a state of its public school system deprive children of rights guaranteed by the U. S. Constitution.

St. Helena became the first parish in Louisiana in public vote to choose giving up public schools in favor of private, segregated schools. Final federal court desegregation orders have not been issued.

Staff Chiefs Get Confidence Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said Friday he has "complete confidence" in the Joint Chiefs of Staff and consults with them several times a week.

He gave that reply to a news conference question about reports that he has been bypassing the Joint Chiefs of Staff in arriving at strategy decisions.

McNamara made no direct comment on the recent statement of Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., that the present chiefs should be replaced by abler and wiser men.

Personnel of the JCS changes periodically. The present JCS is composed of Army Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, the chairman; Adm. Arleigh A. Burke, chief of naval operations; Gen. George H. Decker, Army chief of staff; and Gen. Thomas D. White, Air Force chief of staff. Sitting in with the chiefs is the Marine commandant, Gen. David M. Shoup.

One question raised in Washington talk concerning the relationship with the JCS has involved the question of Defense Department responsibility in failure of the Cuban patriots' invasion attempt.

On this point, McNamara said: "As secretary of defense, I am responsible for the operations and actions of the department. Any errors, therefore, are my errors; they are not to be charged to others."

Texans Elect New Senator On Saturday

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Texas' strange and often unpredictable politics arrives at another milestone Saturday when voters pick a senator from two conservative candidates.

Opponents are William A. Blakley, a Democrat who currently is senator by interim appointment, and John G. Tower, a Republican.

They ran one-two in a preliminary special Senate election April 4 which saw 71 candidates on the ballot.

Tower led that race with 31.5 per cent of the vote. Blakley received 18 per cent. Four other well-known figures split most of the remainder.

The surprise of the April 4 preliminary was that two conservatives reached the runoff.

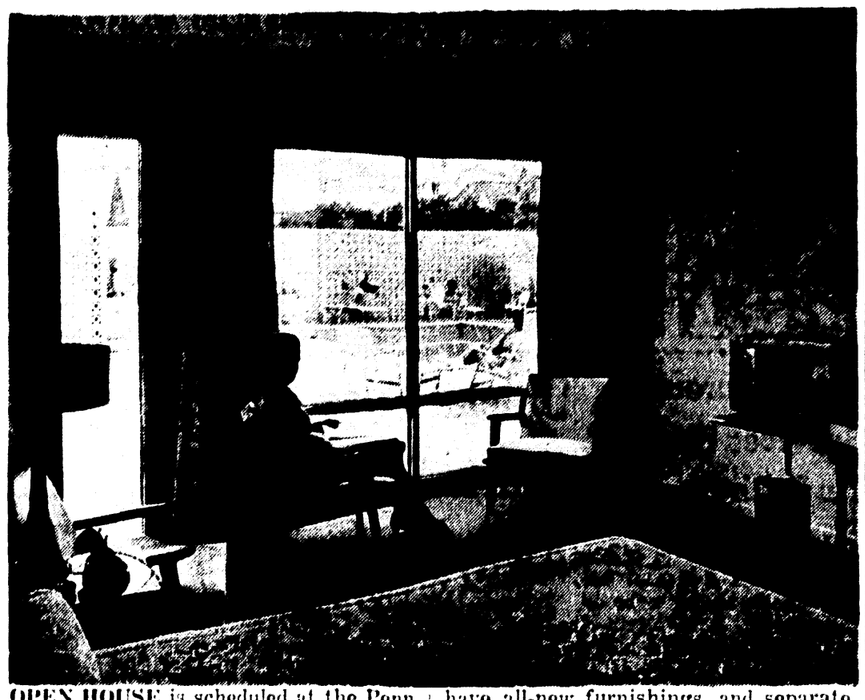
Tower consistently avoids calling himself a Republican, instead telling voters, "I am your conservative candidate." He has opposed virtually every program of the Kennedy administration.

Blakley generally supports the Democratic administration's foreign program but is against aid to education, minimum wage, the Peace Corps and Social Security medical care.

Sen. Blakley supported Republican Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1952 and 1956. But he voted with Democrats in organizing the Senate in 1961 when he became interim senator after Price Daniel resigned to become governor.

His current interim appointment came after Lyndon B. Johnson resigned to become vice president on January.

Tower was a professor of government at Midwestern University, Wichita Falls, Tex., until he resigned to campaign last spring. Johnson defeated him in their Senate race in the fall general election. Johnson ran for both senator and vice president.



OPEN HOUSE is scheduled at the Penn Resort Hotel from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. Saturday, to display the newly-completed sundeck and 18 by 40 foot swimming pool. The colorful new resort area was built over the parking lot. The third floor opens directly onto the luxurious new section. Seven cabana rooms have been constructed around the pool and deck, one of which is shown here. They have all-new furnishings, and separate dressing rooms. Some have a sitting area in the bedrom. The deck is built of tile and is enclosed with an 8-foot solar brick wall to ensure privacy. Potted plants in imported jardiniers add to the colorful, resort atmosphere. The pool and deck is for all Penn Resort Hotel guests and their friends.

NO WORD SPOKEN

Many Across U.S. Worship In Silence

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

There were prayers, but no voices. There was a sermon, but no words spoken. There was singing, but no sound.

It was a strnge congregation, but there are hundreds of them today across the United States.

They worship in silence — but the silence is full.

It is full of rippling movements, of glowing eyes, of nodding heads, shifting arms and agile fingers, and also, of deep reverence.

Such are the services of the congregation of the deaf.

They join in full-fledged ritual — Responsive Readings, Prayers, Scripture lessons, and even hymns, without hearing or speaking.

The key to it all is sign language.

St. Ann's for the Deaf of New York City, one of 99 such Episcopal congregations across the country, offers an example of how these services are conducted.

At the beginning, an usher moves to the front of the sanctuary and motions for the congregation to rise. That means the procession of pastor, choir and acolytes have entered from the rear.

They move silently to their places.

The priest takes his place in the chancel, and pronounces the opening passages with movements of hands and arms. A touch of the palm of one hand, then the other — "Jesus Christ."

In the creed, confession and responses, the worshippers participate with a nimble and a reflective dexterity — but in total silence.

Then came a hymn. The choir left its stall, and stood facing the congregation. How does it sing?

With flowing, graceful motions of the arms and hands, almost like the movement of a classic dance.

Unlike spoken language, the signs for the hymns are slower, more sweeping and rhythmical.

In the sermon, the rector, the Rev. Dr. Edwin W. Nies, was alternately forceful and gentle as he made his points in the language of motion.

He said that in congregations for the deaf you can tell more readily whether the worshippers are paying attention.

"If nobody's watching, nobody's listening."

Whenever it's necessary to get the attention of the whole group at once, there's a simple way of doing it: simply stamp the foot on the floor.

The vibration felt through the feet brings all eyes to the front.

In sign language, the manual alphabet is not the only means of conveying words. Some signs mean entire words or even complete phrases or ideas. Communication goes on about as fast as speaking.

Like many deaf congregations, St. Ann's uses the facilities of a regular hearing-speaking congregation, St. Michael's. The deaf group holds services on Sunday afternoons, following those for the hearing parishioners.

An Episcopal church agency currently is offering theological fellowships — including living expenses and tuition — to attract more ministerial candidates to train as pastors to the deaf.

Dr. Nies, like many deaf persons, is able to converse orally by lip-reading. At one point during the service at his church, a fire engine clanged by outside.

To a hearing observer, it was a distracton. But the people of St. Ann's were undisturbed — in the deep ocean of their quiet world and their God.

Negro Child Hurt When Hit By Car

A Negro child was injured Friday when struck by an auto on Buck Jones Lane.

State police identified her as Joyce Ann Gibson, 5, of 1907 Short Morton St. She was taken to St. Farncis Hospital where the family said her condition was serious. Driver of the auto was identified by authorities as Howard M. Knowland of 1602 S. 7th St.

Ellender Receives Award For Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Allen J. Ellender said Friday the nation must spend more money on river resource development if future water needs are to be be met.

Ellender addressed a meeting of the National Rivers and Harbors Conference where he was presented an award for distinguished service to the cause of water resources development.

Negro Booked For Theft Of Lighters

Alvin Culpepper, 17, Negro, of Monroe, was booked Friday by Monroe police for theft.

Police said the youth is charged with taking three cigarette lighters from a cafe where he was employed as a cleaning boy.

2 Illegal Weapon Charges Are Made

Bond for John L. Rateliff, 29, of Clayton, was set at $400. Bond for Clarence Ballard, 34, Negro, of Monroe, was set at $230.

Theft By Check Counts Lodged

Two persons from New Orleans were booked by West Monroe police Friday on two counts of theft by check each.

They were identified as Lois Ann McCallister, 20, and J. C. Wilson, 33.

Winnsboro's Plant Floor Deteriorating

WINNSBORO (Special) — The concrete floor of Winnsboro's $250,000 garment plant building is deteriorating and most of the top coating has crumbled and swept away as dust.

The town of Winnsboro has called on the Curtis and Davis, New Orleans architectural firm, who designed the building, and asked them to repair and replace the floor.

The architects in turn are attempting to fix the responsibility of the floor.

The building was constructed by McInnis Brothers of Minden, and was completed early in 1958. Cement was bought from the Lone Star Cement Co. of Lake Charles.

The town of Winnsboro passed a $250,000 bond issue to pay for the building and the bonds are being retired by rent paid by the Sustan Garment Factory.

The building contains 40,000 square feet floor space and 30,000 square feet in the factory area is affected.

A meeting was held at the factory Friday morning, by the Winnsboro Town Council and persons interested in the construction.

After a two hour meeting, it was decided to take scrapings of the floor for chemical analysis by the Lone Star Cement Co. Broadhead will call another meeting when the report on the analysis is received.

Evans, plant manager, first reported the condition of the floor to F. C. Howard in February, 1960, but it was not reported to the architect until one year later.

Mrs. Demarst, 52, Succumbs; Services Today

Mrs. Eva Ardoin Demarst, 52, of Monroe, died Friday afternoon in a local nursing home following a period of several months ill health. She was a native of LaCassine.

Funeral services have been scheduled for 5:15 Saturday evening in the chapel of Hixson Bros. Funeral Home at Welsh with Father Jules Daitle officiating. Interment will be in the Catholic Cemetery, also at Welsh.

The body will be carried to Welsh sometime this morning.

Surviving Mrs. Demarst are her husband, John Demarst, Monroe two daughters, Mrs. W. E. Temmerman, also of Monroe, and Mrs. E. J. Drews, Kinder four brothers, Noah and Albert Ardoin, both of Welsh, Anatole Ardoin, Lake Charles, and Otis Ardoin, of Scott, La. a sister, Mrs. Earanna LaFleur Dry Creek; and her mother, Mrs. Julia Ardoin, of Lacassine.

British Appeal To Kremlin On Laos Stalemate

GENEVA (UPI) — Britain appealed directly to the Kremlin Friday to break the impasse at the 14-nation conference on Laos over operations of the International Control Commission trying to police the cease-fire in the tiny Southeast Asian kingdom.

The government in London sent a message to Moscow through its ambassador after British delegation leader Malcolm MacDonald tried—and failed—to budge Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Georgi Pushkin here.

ushkin hamstrung the conference by refusing to let it send new instructions urgently asked by the commission six days ago. The three-nation control commission said instructions and authority were needed to carry out its duties and check on alleged violations by both sides of the truce ordered three weeks ago.

ushkin, who was in the chair at the last conference session on Wednesday, abruptly recessed the session without setting a new date for the next plenary meeting.

Garroway To Quit Show On Television

NEW YORK (AP) — Dave Garroway said Friday he is leaving NBC's early morning television show "Today."

Garroway, a top TV figure for a dozen years and master of ceremonies on the "Today" show, said that now that he faces the responsibility of bringing up a family of three children alone, "I feel I must become a better man."

His wife, Pamela, died April 28 of an overdose of sleeping pills, leaving him with his daughter, Paris, 17, by a previous marriage, her son by a previous marriage, Michael, 13, and their son, David Cunningham Garroway Jr., 3.

FINANCE COMMITTEE

Wakefield To Get U.S. Chamber Post

Benton M. Wakefield Jr., vice president of the Ouachita National Bank, has been invited to serve as a member of the United States Chamber of Commerce finance committee.

Wakefield is former president of the Monroe Chamber of Commerce.

Garland Shell, current president, pointed out that, "This is the first time that an area banker has been so singularly honored by an appointment of this stature."

"It reflects great recognition to the Monroe area, and acknowledges the impetus of the financial institutions of this metropolitan trade area," Shell said.

Richard Wagner, president of the U. S. Chamber, invited Wakefield to serve as a member of the finance committee. The invitation was extended on behalf of the National Chamber's board of directors.

"This committee studies national problems that affect the work of all banks and financial institutions, and helps develop Chamber policies and programs to meet these problems," Wagner said.

"The Chamber's board of directors, and its entire membership, depend heavily on the committee for advice and leadership," he continued.

"Strong business leadership, as you know, will be highly important in the year ahead," Wagner informed Wakefield. "Your knowledge of national problems in your field will enable you to contribute greatly to the work of our finance committee and to the effectiveness of the national chamber."

Archie K. Davis, chairman of the board of the Wachovia Bank and Trust Co. of Winston-Salem, N. C., will be chairman of the finance committee. Davis also is a member of the national chamber's board of directors.

The finance committee meets at least twice a year.

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (UPI) —Atty Gen. Robert Kennedy and his family may spend the Memorial Day weekend here along with the President, it was reported Friday.

Deaths

R. A. Goodman

DELHI (Special) — R. A. (Bob) Goodman, 83, died about 7 p.m. Friday after suffering a sudden attack at the residence of a son, Fred Goodman on Delhi Route 3.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Sunday in the Lamar Baptist church with the Rev. Pat Loftin officiating.

Burial will be in the Old Crowville Masonic cemetery under direction of Gay's of Delhi.

Mr. Goodman is survived by five sons, R. W. Goodman, Clyde Goodman, Fred Goodman, all of Delhi, Ray Goodman, Leland, Miss. and Prentice Goodman, Memphis, Tenn.; one brother, Will Goodman, Pelahatchie, Miss.; 24 grandchildren and 56 great-grandchildren.

Pallbearers will be J. D. Upton, George Jones, Guy McLain, Clitt Chapman, Vaughn Thornton, C. C. Peppers.

Mr. Goodman was a native of Rankin County, Miss., and had resided in Delhi for about 44 years. He was a farmer.

Two Booked For Drunken Driving

Two persons were booked Friday by Monroe police for driving while intoxicated.

They were identified as Bobby E. Hutson, 27, of 118 Patton Dr., West Monroe, who also was booked for reckless driving, and Willard N. Banks, 46, Negro, of Lake Charles.

Bond for each was set at $435.

Junior Bar Group Elects Chairman

BILOXI, Miss. (AP) — The Junior Bar section of the Louisiana State Bar Association Friday elected Curtis Boisfontaine of New Orleans chairman.

William D. Brown of Monroe, outgoing chairman, reported on plans for a law student internship program to start next year.

He said the program provides for law students between their junior and senior years to work in law offices on a voluntary basis.

Brown said law institute for newly-graduated attorneys would be held June 12-13 in New Orleans to familiarize those about to enter law practice with the relationship between the classroom and the courtroom.

Rendezvous Restaurant
1400 Louisville, Monroe, La.

Jerry Van Dyke acquits himself admirably in his nightly shows here. Younger brother of Dick Van Dyke ("Bye Bye Birdie"), but heavier in build, he uses original fare for his hilarious stunts and clicks with the bulk of his material.

Crew-cut comic does a stinging takeoff on Presley and motorcycles, and intersperses his routine with top pantomime bits. His lip-sync "Lone Ranger" sketch is a classic, and let-a woodshedding is also evidence via his ludicrous "Gunsmoke" and hillbilly panto bills.

Van Dyke doesn't depend entirely on humor to fashion his fine act. He frets the banjo for several tunes, big mitting coming from his up-tempo version of "World Is Waiting for the Sunrise." Extra fillup is good vocalizing, including his closing bit, "Song and Dance Man," Utilizing strawhat, cane and brief terping.

LIVESTOCK

CHICAGO (AP) — Butcher hog prices were steady to 25 cents a hundredweight lower Friday in an active trade for the largest Friday supply in six months.

With most of the decline on weights over 230 lbs a very few mixed No. 1 and 2 grades brought an $18 top while other mixed 1s and 2s in the 190-220 lb range moved at $17.50-17.85. It was the fourth consecutive day the market had topped at $18.

The 190-230 lb mixed 1-3 grades cleared at $16.75-17.50 and the heavier weights at $15.25-16. Sows were $13.25-15.25.

The offerings of 7,000 head boosted the total for the week to 11,000, up 1,500 from last week. It was the largest supply for any week this year.

The small cattle supply did not include enough of any one class to test prices. No sales were reported.

A few choice and prime grade spring slaughter lambs brought $19-20 in the quotably steady sheep trade.

GRAIN

CHICAGO (AP) — Grain futures prices ranged from firm to weak at the close of the Board of Trade Friday after one of the most active days of the week.

Wheat, long under pressure because of the approaching harvest of the winter crop, attracted a moderate demand and finished with gains of major fractions. The support was credited to short covering and some export buying apparently toward filling an order of about five million bushels of hard wheat purchased by Spain.

Corn closed about steady, oats firm, rye and soybeans weak. A good deal of the activity in those pits was described as mainly toward evening up positions for the weekend although there appeared to be some profit taking in corn.

Soybeans closed ½-4¾ cents a bushel lower, July $2.91¾-92½; wheat ½-⅝ higher, July $1.85⅝-⅞; corn ⅛ lower to ¼ higher, July $1.15¼-⅜; oats ⅝-⅝ higher, July 66⅝-¾; rye 2½-3½ lower, July $1.13-13¼.

Stocks Rally To Chalk Up Wide Gains

NEW YORK (UPI) — Wide gains in key issues marked a late rally on the stock market Friday carrying prices sharply higher on slightly heavier turnover.

Trading was about the slowest of the year early in the day but increased noticeably over the noon hour when prices began rising. Volume totaled 3,780,000 shares, a scant 20,000 more than in the prior session.

While advances far outnumbered declines the market was the narrowest in more than two months with 1,265 issues traded—nine less than the day before and 36 under last Friday. A total of 602 issues rose, 57 to new highs, and 429 fell, nine to new lows.

A gain of 0.42 in the inclusive Standard & Poor's 500 stock index indicated that about $2.65 billion of the losses incurred in four prior sessions this week had been restored to market values.

The Dow-Jones 30 industrials closed at 696.28 for a gain of 6.12, and featured American Telephone up 1⅝, Bethlehem Steel up 1⅛, Du Pont up 2¼, Goodyer up 1, Sears Roebuck up 2⅜, Woolworth up 3, Swift up 1⅛, and Texaco up 5⅛ on a 2-for-1 stock split proposal.

Ford was the day's most active issues, off 2⅝ on 61,300 shares following news that the Ford Foundation is making an additional public distribution of 2.75 million shares.

It was followed by Automatic Canteen up ¼, General Motors up ⅜, American Cable & Radio up ⅝, and Graham - Paige unchanged at 2⅝.

Most motors and steels finished with gains of fractions to a point, reflecting rising production in both industries. Chemicals were mixed, aircratts and tobaccos firm.

Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange on 2,050,000 shares, 200,000 shares more than Thursday's turnover. Continental Materials up ⅜ on 99,600 shares was the most active issue. Mead Johnson tacked on 5⅜ and Technicolor, which lost out to Bell & Howell on the home movie agreement with Du Pont, recouped 1¼ on heavy trading.

CALL MEETING

NEW YORK (UPI)—DDirectors of Texaco Inc. Friday set the stage for a two-for-one stock split by calling a special stockholders meeting July 11 to vote an increase in the authorized shares.

President Augustus C. Long said the split would be carried out "provided conditions at that time in the judgement of the board warrant such action."

TO SHOW PROFIT

LOS ANGELES—Douglas Aircraft Co. will show a second quarter profit, official said, but they declined to estimate what it might be. The company earned $1.7 million in the first quarter but had a 1960 second quarter loss of $1.8 million.

REPORTS LOSS

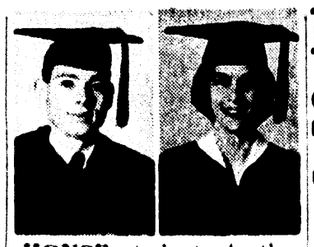
NEW YORK —The New York Central Railroad reported an April loss of nearly $5 million compared with a $1.25 million profit in the month a year ago. This brought the loss for the first four montas to more than $22 million. However, the road expects to be back on the earnings track by the third quarter.

OMITS DIVIDEND

AKRON, Ohio — Sieberling Rubber Co. omitted the quarterly dividend on the common stock because of "unsatisfactory earnings." The company had paid 12½ cents in March and 5 cents last December.

RETAIL SALES OFF

NEW YORK — Retail sales this week perked up slightly from the level a year ago, but showed no improvement from the previous week, Dun & Bradstreet reported Friday. Total dollar volume in the week ended May 24 was unchanged to 4 per cent higher than a year ago.



HONOR students in the 1961 graduating class of the Oak Ridge High School are Elizabeth McEnery and Jerry Greene, above. Elizabeth is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mason McEnery and Jerry is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Glen L. Greene.

Name Head Of Alumni Fund Drive

BATON ROUGE (Special) — John W. Barton of Baton Rouge has been named general chairman of the 1961 Louisiana State University Alumni Fund campaign.

The announcement of Barton's acceptance was made by I. J. Beenel, of Metairie, current president of the LSU Alumni Federation, and A. R. Johnson III, of Baton Rouge, president - elect of the Federation.

A 1939 graduate in sugar engineering, Barton heads the third annual Alumni Fund, a non-profit organization designed to channel financial contributions from former students into worthwhile services for the University.

LSU Alumni throughout the world have contributed nearly $100,000 to the 1959 and 1960 Alumni Funds. The goal for the 1961 Fund is $75,000.

The objectives of the 1961 Alumni Fund are keyed around the expansion of the Alumni Federation Freshman Scholarship Program and student travel assistance. Twelve outstanding and needy freshman students received the scholarships last September in the inauguration of the program. Contributions to the 1961 Fund will permit the expansion of this program in financially assisting more quality freshmen.

"Alumni, through their contributions to the Alumni Fund, can assist LSU by filling some of the financial gaps in its program which cannot be covered by tax-appropriated funds," Barton said. He praised the efforts of the two previous Fund chairmen — W. H. LeBlanc, Jr., of Baton Rouge, and Dr. F. P. Bordelon, Jr., of Marksville — and asked for the support of all former students in reaching the 1961 goal.

Barton, who is president of the Jack's Cookie Company, is active in the Rotary Club, United Givers Fund and other civic, social and business groups.

LSU Artist Sells Prints To Collection

BATON ROUGE (Special) — Further recognition of the work of Louisiana State University artist Caroline Durieux has come with the purchase of three of her prints by the world famous Lessing J. Rosenwald collection.

Professor Durieux, whose lithographs have attracted national attention, joins such famed artists as Picasso, Rouault, Goya, Rembrandt and modern artists Misch Kohn and Ben Shahn in the Rosenwald collection.

The aim of the collection has been "to secure quality rather than quantity. Even today after more than 20 years of growth the collection cannot be considered large in comparison to many of the great collections. Quality is infinitely more difficult to attain than quantity," Rosenwald said.

The Rosenwald Collection purchased Professor Durieux's prints upon the recommendation of Miss Elizabeth Mongan, curator of prints in the National Gallery of Art in Washington. Miss Mongan viewed a campus exhibition of Professor Durieux's works last year.

The three prints purchased are "Lot's Wife," a black and white coectron print. "Frightened Witches," a color lithograph, and "Dinosaur Egg," a color cliche verre, a modernized form of a century-old art process. Already a part of the collection is her lithograph "Insomnia."

All of the prints were made under grants awarded by the LSU Council of Research.

Mrs. Durieux, who teaches drawing and graphic art, has gained international attention with her electron prints which were purchased for a permanent exhibition on atomic energy by the U. S. Information Service.

Tractors Barter Group To Leave For Cuba Today

MIAMI (UPI) — Ten Cuban invasion prisoners, sent here last Saturday by Fidel Castro to negotiate the barter of 1,200 fellow captives for 500 U.S. tractors and bulldozers, announced Friday they would return to Havana Saturday confident of the success of their mission.

The group was described as "ready and eager" to get back to Havana to make a report to Castro on the details and the present status of the projected swap.

Ulises Carbo, one of the prisoners and son of exiled Cuban newspaper publisher Sergio Carbo, said they were "optimistic and confident" that the barter deal would go through. He said there had been "no problems" in outlining Castro's ransom demands to the U.S. civilian committee set up to raise an estimated $15 million to pay for the equipment.

All of the Cuban premier's "indemnification" demands were clearly outlined to the U.S. committee and explained in detail, Carbo said. The committee is headed by Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, labor leader Walter Reuther and Dr. Milton Eisenhower.

Carbo said that the committee would seek an immediate audience with Castro as soon as its members land in Havana. They are scheduled to leave at 10 a.m. EDT Saturday aboard a commercial airliner.

Court Recesses

Fourth District Court was in recess Friday, as local officials attended the Louisiana Bar Association convention at Biloxi, Miss.

IN PACIFIC NORTHWEST

Getting Fish Past Big Dams Problem

WASHINGTON (UPI) -- There could come a day soon in the Pacific Northwest when either fish or power dams will have to go.

This is being said privately by advocates of both private and public power.

More and more, the salmon's natural urge to swim upriver and spawn is being pitted against man's need for increasing amount, of electrical current.

The result is a headache both for dam builders an dthose whose living depends on the salmon run.

Cutting the salmon off from their spawning grounds by building dams which they cannot pass could all but wipe out the Pacific salmon's multi-million dollar fishing industry.

Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall -- with President Kennedy's backing -- has asked for a "crash program" of research to try to find an answer to the problem of getting fish past dams.

Government and private industry already have spent millions of dollars on present fish ladders and screens now in operation. But, unfortunately, the fish runs continued to fall off.

As yet, no sure way of getting past dams has been devised. But concerned are agreed that time is growing short.

Those who argue in favor of preserving the Pacific Northwest's salmon resource need only point to New England for evidence of what may result. The Atlantic salmon, once a bountiful source of food for the Indians and early American colonists, has been almost wiped out by the construction of dams, pollution of rivers, and overfishing.

Conservationists are determined to save the Pacific salmon from the same fate.

They have, for example, risen almost en masse against the Washington public power supply system's application to the Federal Power Commission to build the Nez Perce Dam on the Snake River. The dam would be built below the mouth of the Salmon River, in which an estimated two-thirds of the fish entering the Snake River spawn.

Privately, the private power advocates have complained that the fish problem is an emotional one. Some public power advocates have made similar statements.

No one has yet dared step forward to say flatly and publicly that fish must have to be sacrificed for power.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., recently urged the appropriation of $1.6 million for the fiscal year beginning July 1 to carry out such a program. Over Pacific Northwest legislators have joined in saying the problem is an urgent one.

A possible solution to the fish passage problem has been seen by some experts in a so-called "Bypass system" installed at the Bureau of Reclamation's fish collection facility at Tracy, Calif. Power officials believe the system would solve fish passage problems at the proposed Nez Perce Dam.

The Bypass system consists of a vertical "Venetian blind" installed across the stream, water flows through, but young fish instinctively veer away from the obstruction and are drawn into a bypass.

The Bypass system at Tracy has handled more than 13 million fish each year and they estimate that it is about 90 per cent efficient in diverting salmon. The Interior Department has called it "one of the outstanding contributions in the field of conservation in 30 years."

Other proposals to "solve" the problem have included long-term "precautions" on dam building and simply waiting until fish hatchery problems are solved.

Meanwhile, pressures continue to mount to exploit the remaining sources of hydroelectric power in the Pacific Northwest. There are many -- Senator Morse among them -- who say that such pressures cannot long be denied. A choice must eventually be made, it undoubtedly will be power rather than fish.

'Freedom' Rides Only One Step Of Negro Drive

NEW YORK (AP) -- The Congress of Racial Equality, organized to demonstrate Southern bus terminals are the next step of a Negro drive to end discrimination entirely in United States, the adjutant of the Congress of Racial Equality reported Friday.

Our immediate objective is a city of brotherly, the complete elimination of racial and religious discrimination," Marion Bascombe, CORE's director of community relations, told a news conference.

We said we intended to move ahead Thursday to June 1, Farmer, CORE leader, said objectives along with the bus trips.

The drive already has spread to lunch counters, department stores and recreational areas.

Will the drive spread to other states, Bascombe was asked?

"There can be no concept of setting a limit to discrimination that is practiced," said Bascombe. "We hope that many of these chapters will come voluntarily."
